YES, AARON, THERE IS A MOTHER GOOSE

Thirty-month-old Aaron Smith of San Rafael (left) gets a close-up look at those characters he hears about in the nursery tales, while his mother, Georgette Smith, coaxed one of them closer to his 5-month-old (and oblivious) brother, Zachary. The youngsters and their mother were among many drawn yesterday by the sunny weather to stroll beside the lagoon in Marin's Civic Center, feeding ducks and noting the budding trees. Continuing fair and warmer weather is promised through tomorrow. (Photo by Bob Hax)

333 Listed As Dead In Tornado Carnage

Property Damage Will Run Into The Millions

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The worst cyclonic onslaught in almost a half century slashed through 11 states and a city on the Canadian border during eight fright-filled hours yesterday. The death toll shot above 300 today and bodies were still being recovered.

A new tornado hit early today in West Virginia, cutting off the town of Meadow Bridge which a state police radio operator said was "demolished." Tornado watches were ordered for Virginia, Georgia and Louisiana.

In the wake of almost 100 separate tornadoes, the known death toll stood at 333.

The figure was climbing as officials dug into the rubble that stretched from the Midwest to the Southwest and included the Canadian border city of Windsor, Ont., just across the river from Detroit.

Kentucky reported 98 dead. Alabama 68, Tennessee 58, Indiana 43, Ohio 40, Georgia 15, North Carolina 5, Michigan 3, Illinois 2, West Virginia 1, and Oklahoma 1.

Eight died in Windsor, Ont., when winds unroofed a skating rink and a wall crushed the victims into the ice during a curling match.

Cities were shattered. Some towns were all but wiped out. Thousands were homeless.

An incomplete list of the injured soared to more than 2,000 with the heaviest reports from Indiana, Alabama, Tennessee and Ohio.

It was the greatest tornado disaster since 1925, when 689 persons died in storms that struck Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. The next worst was in 1964 when twisters killed 271 in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

As dawn broke, Monticello, Ind., a resort town of 5,000, was without electricity, water and cooking gas, the result of a four-minute assault which the mayor said came "with a hell of a roar." The courthouse lost its upper one and one half stories, downtown sidewalks were too full of debris to walk on and some badly damaged stores and homes were listed for demolition.

The search went on for a number of missing persons including six of the seven occupants in a Volkswagen van plucked off a bridge and thrown into the Tippecanoe River and 20 to 25 missing workers feared trapped in wreckage of a factory.

Damage to the 11 states was certain to total millions of dollars.

The city of Xenia, Ohio, population 25,000, was about half destroyed and 35 persons were killed. The Kentucky hamlet of Brandenburg on the Ohio River was virtually leveled, some of the dead flung along the river bank. At least 20 were killed at Brandenburg.

"It was the blackest thing I ever saw," said the Brandenburg postmaster, Thomas Tichenor.

Allen Pearson, the chief severe storm forecaster with the National Weather Service, said the tornadoes were born of a "mother low" — an unusually deep low pressure system — that began building over Wyoming Tuesday.

Pearson said the jet stream "acted like a giant pump" that jerked thunderstorms up to 55,000 feet where they were twisted into tornadoes and flung back to the earth. The National Weather Center counted 50 tornadoes between midafternoon and midevening yesterday, and later revised the figure to 80.

The storm chief said, "The savage onslaught of the last eight hours has produced more fatalities than tornadoes in the last three years combined." Only 143 were reported dead from twisters during that period for the entire country.

Gov. Wendell Ford called it "the most tragic day in Kentucky history." Twisters there hit 20 north and central counties, including Louisville.

Tornadoes roared through parts of the foothills and mountains of the Great Smokies, the Appalachians and the Cumberlands in the Southeast, hitting furiously at East and Middle Tennessee, western North Carolina, northern Alabama and north Gorgia.

Thirteen persons were killed in Lawrence County, Ala., 12 in Madison County. In the Resaca-Sugar Creek section of Georgia, seven were killed including a man, his wife and two children in their brick house.

The homes of virtually all of 100 villagers of Talma, Ind., were destroyed. Near Lexington, Ind., winds picked up a school bus and dashed it on the children who a few minutes earlier had left it to seek shelter in a ditch. One boy, David Copple, 13, was killed.

In Swayzee, Ind., all the trailers in Frank's Trailer Park were destroyed. Some were left hanging in trees. A factory in Monticello, Ind., collapsed and 20 to 25 workers were missing.

A woman bus driver near Branchville, Ind. was killed when her bus was flipped 50 feet in the air.

Hundreds in the Midwest reported the sky turning black with an eerie greenish tinge just before yesterday's rampage began.

Four persons were dead in Cincinnati and at least 207 persons hospitalized. A curfew was ordered from 10 p.m. to 8 a.m. EDT and citizens told to go into their basements for protection against the possibility of more tornadoes. The weather threatened today's opening game of 1974 baseball season.

Nixon May Need Loan For Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will pay about $467,000 in back taxes and interest the Internal Revenue Service says he owes for the first four years of his presidency—and he may have to float a loan to settle up.

By abandoning plans yesterday to contest his situation in tax court, although he believed his lawyers successfully could challenge the findings, Nixon tacitly conceded he underreported his income and exaggerated his deductions during his first term.

The tax bite — including $432,788.13 the IRS said Nixon owes in back taxes—will cost the President and his wife Pat about $467,000, the White House said, when the interest is computed.

Meantime, in Sacramento the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee agreed Wednesday to investigate whether President Nixon owes back taxes in California.

Chairman Joe Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, was authorized to obtain "all records" of the State Franchise Tax Board pertaining to the President.

At the same time the committee asked Gonsalves to get the returns and records of all California congressmen to "determine whether taxpayers are being treated in a uniform manner."

The franchise board staff ruled in February that Nixon, who owns a seaside estate and votes at San Clemente, was a non-resident for income tax purposes although he might still be liable for taxes on income derived in California.

In one of the most daring political gambles of his career,

Aaron Hits Homer To Tie Ruth

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Hank Aaron equalled Babe Ruth's all-time home run record when he hit the 714th home run of his career in the first inning of today's national league opener between the Atlanta Braves and Cincinnati Reds at capacity packed Riverfront Stadium.

Aaron's record-tying blow came on a 3 and 1 pitch off Reds' right-hander Jack Billingham and Jack rabbited the Braves into a 3-0 lead.

The home run, which cleared the inner fence of the ball park slightly to the left of the 375-foot marker, came with such startling suddenness that it caught the crowd of more than 51,000, including vice president of the United States Gerald Ford, in almost complete surprise.

When the impact of what had happened hit them, the Crowd stood up and gave the Braves' 40-year-old superstar a rousing ovation and all the Braves' players came running from the dugout to greet and congratulate him as he crossed home plate.

House Asks Nixon Tapes By Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee Thursday asked the White House to respond by April 9 to its request for 41 presidential tapes it says it needs in its impeachment inquiry.

John Doar, chief counsel to the committee, asked in a letter to the White House that it answer "no later than April 9" whether it was going to supply the tapes requested in another letter dated Feb. 25.

Doar said the tapes cover conversations President Nixon had in February through April, 1973 with several of his aides, including John Dean, John Ehrlichman, Bob Haldeman and former Attorney General Richard Kleindienst.

Under questioning from the committee, Doar said the White House has the initial right to separate from the requested tapes conversations it feels are irrelevant to the impeachment inquiry.

He said it would then be up to the committee to decide if Nixon was being truthful and reasonable, and if he wasn't, it would have to subpoena the tapes.

The committee again debated the request by James St. Clair, Nixon's defense attorney, to take part in the deliberations by questioning witnesses and presenting evidence, but it came to no conclusion.

Republicans on the committee issued a 24-page report in which they argued that the trend in similar proceedings in the 20th century favors allowing St. Clair to participate.

The Republicans strongly urged committee chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., to call a business meeting before Congress adjourns for Easter next week to decide if St. Clair will sit in and to tighten up the scope of the inquiry.

Rodino, in an opening statement, blamed the President for the delay, saying "We shall not be thwarted by inappropriate legalisms or by narrow obstacles to our inquiry."

Added Rodino: "We have asked for evidence. We have waited patiently to get the recorded conversations. We will subpoena them if we must."

Law, Order Leader Attacks The Courts

By JEFF GREER

The president of the volunteer Citizens for Law and Order today lashed out at Marin County Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire, the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee, the Symbionese Liberation Army and the press, in an earnest call for the private citizen to watchdog law enforcement and the courts.

Earl W. Huntting of Oakland, president of the CLO, spoke at the weekly Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club meeting in San Rafael.

He criticized McGuire for reducing from first-degree to second-degree the robbery charges against Stephanie Kline and three companions in the Dec. 31, 1972, holdup at the Co-Op Market in Corte Madera.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales opposed plea bargaining in the case, Huntting noted. Witnesses and police said the four were armed and shots were fired, making the case first-degree robbery with a possible sentence of five years to life.

Huntting said McGuire's ruling, which resulted in a bargained plea of guilty to the reduced charge and averted a trial, was condemned by district attorneys in Alameda and Contra Costa counties, and two Alameda County judges. The four were sentenced to one-year-to-life terms.

Huntting noted that McGuire will have a chance for a rebuttal when he speaks to the breakfast club May 9.

Huntting declared that the criminal himself, not "social deprivation or economic hardship" is responsible for a 200 per cent increase in California

Patricia's Tape Stuns Hearsts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The parents of Patricia Hearst were stunned and disbelieving today after hearing their daughter renounce her former life, call her father "a liar" and declare she has joined the days ago. (Another story, photos, page 16.)

Neither her parents nor her fiance, Steven Weed could believe that the 20-year-old granddaughter of newspaper giant William Randolph Hearst made the statements on her own free will.

A tape recording of Patricia's statement, broadcast over radio KSAN in San Francisco, and KPFA in Berkeley, had been brought to the stations by messenger who also delivered a color snapshot of Patricia.

It showed her dressed in overalls, cradling a submachine gun, standing before a red flag bearing the seven-headed cobra symbol of the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA).

In the taped message, she denied that she had been "brainwashed, drugged, tortured, hypnotized or in any way confused."

At their suburban Hillsborough home, her family verified the voice was Patty's.

But her father, Randolph Hearst, said, "Personally, I don't believe it."

Holdings hands with his wife, Catherine, Hearst yesterday told newsmen in front of the house: "We've had her 20 years. They've had her 60 days, and I don't believe she is going to change her philosophy that quickly, and that permanently, and I'll never believe it until she comes to me, or her mother, or her sisters or one of her cousins and is free to talk without any interference whatsoever. At that time if her choice is to become a member of an organization like this, we'll still love her and she is free to do whatever she wants."

Her mother voiced doubt Patty would join such an organization without being coerced. "We love her and hope she'll be home again."

Her fiance, Steven Weed, who was with her the night she was dragged, kicking and screaming, from her Berkeley apartment by the SLA, also had doubts.

"If she only speaks it only to me that would be enough," Weed said.

"I want to tell Patty that I love her as much as ever...I can accept whatever she has chosen.

"But that for me to accept what has happened today in the manner in which it has been given to me, would (be) just to sell her out, that's the way I feel right now."

Patricia's 18-year-old sister Anne said, "I know Patty far too well to think she'd come around like that. I don't believe it."

The bizarre broadcast also contained a frightening declaration from "Cinque," a self-styled field marshal of the SLA, who said that hereafter no members of the ruling class will be taken prisoner.

Instead, he said, "corporate

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

NATO Chief Makes Troop Plea

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization marked its 25th anniversary today with a plea to the United States and Canada to maintain their troop levels in Europe as part of a plan to maintain a deterrent to Soviet bloc attack despite the high financial price.

Luns

The call came from the secretary general of the alliance, Joseph Luns of Holland, in a birthday address that included an appeal for the allies on both sides of the Atlantic to allay their differences so that their mutual security will not be endangered.

The disarray stems from the dispute between the United States and its European allies over defense costs, the future of the some 300,000 U.S. troops in Europe, trade and a host of other issues, including the American call for prior consultations before any decisions affecting the alliance are made unilaterally.

Death Decree

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korean President Park Chung Hee outlawed all anti-government activity by students in a decree yesterday that said violators may be punished by death.

The 12-point decree said schools where violations take place may be closed for good. Offenders can be arrested without warrant and tried by special court-martial.

It was the fourth presidential decree since Jan. 8 when Park banned all attempts to change the country's constitution to provide new presidential elections and parliamentary rule.

Encouraging or instigating activities banned in the decree or reporting news on such moves by radio or publication are also banned and subject to the same punishments — five years to life imprisonment or the death penalty, the decree said.

Kidnap Charge

LONDON (UPI) — The government formally charged Ian Ball today with attempting to kidnap Princess Anne in a March 20 attack on her limousine. It increased the number of attempted murder charges against him from one to four and said his trial could begin next week.

"I did it because I wished to draw public attention to the lack of facilities for treating mental illness under National Health," Ball, 26, said during a two-and-a-half minute court appearance, referring to Britain's socialized health service.

Ball came into the courtroom charged only with trying to murder the princess's bodyguard but left accused of trying to kidnap Anne, or trying forcibly to imprison her and of trying to murder three other men wounded in the shooting besides the bodyguard.

David Napley, a lawyer retained by Ball, told a bail hearing last week Ball wanted it known that "there is no question of anyone else being involved in the incident. He alone is concerned."

Release Sought

ASMARA, Ethiopia (UPI) — Police said today they hope Eritrean guerrillas will release five captured North Americans by Friday.

Two Ethiopian tribal elders followed the band of guerrillas in hopes of persuading them to release the prisoners, captured 10 days ago when a storm forced down their helicopter. Army units kept watch on the group's movements.

An American oil executive overseeing efforts for the prisoners' release said the guerrillas did not seem to be in a hurry, however.

Laotian Pact

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (UPI) — Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma and "Red Prince" Souphanouvong flew to this royal Laotian capital today to present their new coalition government to King Savang Vatthana.

The projected coalition is Laos's best hope for peace in two decades of civil war. But Souphanouvong himself warned that many difficulties lie ahead.

Souvanna Phouma, a neutralist, and Souphanouvong, titular head of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao party, are half-brothers. They met yesterday for the first time in over a decade when Souphanouvong flew to Viantiane, the administrative capital, from Hanoi.

Kidnaper Sketch

HERMOSILLO, Mexico (UPI) — Mexican authorities said today they have worked out a composite picture of the man who was with kidnaped U.S. vice consul John Patterson when he disappeared 13 days ago.

Miguel Nassar, head of the federal police, said the still-unidentified stranger, who was with Patterson when he left the consulate March 22, was young and "American-looking."

Barely two hours after Patterson's disappearance a ransom note was found in the consulate.

Reliable but unofficial sources say the note asked for $500,000.

Since a March 24 attempt to deliver the money failed, there has been no word from Patterson or his kidnapers.

Mariner Problem

PASADENA (UPI) — Mariner 10 has been forced by a short circuit into early retirement, which scientists hope will be temporary.

Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory yesterday sent electronic commands to the spacecraft to go into "cruise mode," shutting down most of its data detectors as it speeds away from Mercury into an orbit around the sun.

Mariner developed a short circuit Saturday night that caused a heat buildup that had scientists worrying about failure of the television cameras and other key instruments.

Reinforcements

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Britain reinforced its garrison in Northern Ireland today in anticipation of another bloody weekend and, the police said, the government is asking the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and Interpol to track down the supply routes of new foreign weapons into Northern Ireland.

Security sources said 250 Ulster veterans of the Second Royal Green Jackets Regiment were on the move from their camp in the north of England.

Extremists caused five deaths, 50 injuries and blew up millions of dollars worth of property in city centers last weekend to make it one of the bloodiest in Northern Ireland's 4½ years of strife.

Women Wounded

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel gunners fired two rounds of captured American-made 105mm artillery into Phnom Penh's southwest section at dawn today, wounding two women in the first such attack on the capital in more than three weeks.

One round exploded at a school playground 180 yards southwest of the presidential palace. The other hit a residential area 700 yards south of the palace. It was the first shelling of Phnom Penh since March 7.

Kissingers Kept Under Close Watch

ACAPULCO (UPI) — Acapulco is enjoying its biggest, swingingest tourist season ever.

For thousands of Americans, the week has been a blend of beach, sailing, golf, parachute sailing behind a speedboat, restaurants and nightclubs.

But not for the newlywed Henry A. Kissingers.

The swarms of tourists, including many honeymooners, look like ants from the hillside hideaway of the U.S. secretary of state and the tall blonde he married Saturday.

They have spent nearly all their time within the walls surrounding a mansion lent to them by a Mexican millionaire. Police guard the entrance. Secret Service men prowl about.

Kissinger usually is no more than a few feet from a "hot line" telephone providing instant communication with the State Department in Washington.

Relentless photographers, security considerations, curiosity seekers, and perhaps hotline calls—all have made it necessary for the Kissingers to honeymoon in prison-like seclusion.

Fortunately for them, their "prison" has a swimming pool and all the frills.

Kissinger's first problem, even before his honeymoon began, was to elude the newsmen who regularly cover his offical acts in Washington, on his wedding day.

From a routine diplomatic parley that day, he drove quickly to pick up his bride-to-be, Nancy Maginnes. They rushed to a judge. It was a quick ceremony. There were no wedding rings.

Protocol and Secret Service men had arrived in Acapulco four days in advance to prepare the house and hot line. The Kissingers flew in in a plane borrowed from former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Minutes after they moved into the Eustaquio Escandon compound, crowds of cameramen, photographers and reporters began to gather outside. Police were sent to eject those who tried to slip inside.

Monday , when the newlyweds went to lunch at the home of a British beer baron, a carload of Secret Servicemen lured newsmen off the trail while the Kissinger Lincoln Continental sped ahead.

STATE FUNERAL — Alain Pompidou, son of the late French President Georges Pompidou, sat beside his mother, her face disappearing under a black veil, in the limousine following the funeral procession of President Pompidou on the road to Orvilliers, where the French chief of state was buried privately today, in accordance with his last wish.

Pompidou Buried In Simple Rite

ORVILLIERS, France (UPI) — France buried President Georges Pompidou today as he wished with a starkly simple funeral service and a grave in the village cemetery here marked only by a stone bearing his name.

Hundreds of policemen kept all outsiders away from this village of 250 population. The French national radio said the burial took less than 15 minutes.

In the cemetery, surrounded by a stone wall and cypress trees, Pompidou's grave was near the rusty iron cross that marked that of his father.

At the cemetery, a priest in a flowing cape read prayers for the deard and sprinkled holy water on the light oak coffin with silver handles. Then undertakers roped the casket into the grave as bells pealed from the local church.

State-owned French television said it did not televise the funeral services in respect for Pompidou's wishes.

The funeral preceding the burial was equally simple and private. The 50-minute service was held in Pompidou's neighborhood church in Paris.

Black-robed monks from the Benedictine abbey od Solesmes sang a Gregorian chant to soft organ music, while a priest in mourning vestments offered a farewell mass over Pompidou's coffin in his neighborhood church, Saint-Louis-en-l'Ile.

The tiny church on the river Seine island where the story of Paris began was empty of floral tributes in fidelity to Pompidou's written request — "I want neither flowers nor wreaths." The only color was the red, white and blue French flag that draped the coffin.

An undecorated black hearse carried the stained oak coffin 800 yards from the Pompidou apartment to the 17th century Louis XIV church, where only a few close family friends, high government members and some Elysee Presidential Palace staff were greeted by Pompidou's adopted son, Alain, 32.

Pompidou died Tuesday at the age of 62 from what French newspapers said was bone cancer. In written instructions dated August, 1972, he asked for a simple and private ceremony in Paris followed by burial at his country home, Orvilliers, west of Paris.

Among the mourners were Prime Minister Pierre Messmer and the man many politicians believe will be Pompidou's successor — former Prime Minister Jacques Chaban-Delmas.

TAXES

Nixon disclosed his financial wealth in December in an effort to defuse public criticism of his tax payments. He conceded his wealth had tripled in the four years he had been in office, and that he now was a millionaire.

But those figures showed that less than half that wealth was in cash, the rest being real estate and other holdings not easily negotiable. The bill Nixon agreed to pay would wipe out half his net worth and all his last reported cash reserves.

A White House spokesman said that while the method of payment must be worked out between the President and the IRS, "the President may have to take out a loan" to meet his obligations.

Nixon's decision came just four hours after the Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation made public a staff report concluding the Nixon's owed at least $476,431 in back taxes and interest for 1969 through 1972.

The committee today endorsed "most" of its staff finding on Nixon's tax liability, commended him for deciding to pay it, and sent it to the legislators investigating his impeachment. With that, the committee wrapped up its inquiry into Nixon's tax status — launched in December at the President's request — and voted to take no further action.

The White House, emphasizing that the IRS found no evidence of fraud, said Nixon would pay the slightly lower IRS figure on the grounds the committee staff had noted final determination of what was owed would come from the IRS.

Nixon noted he had said, when he turned his financial reports over to the committee, that he would abide by its decision. Thus, the White House said, no court fight would be made even though Nixon was convinced he would win such a battle.

The committee staff report said the Nixons failed to report $259,964 in taxable income during the four-year period, and claimed $567,565 in improper deductions—primarily for a gift to the nation of his vice presidential papers and for capital gains on two of his homes.

Shortly after came the White House statement revealing the IRS bill had been delivered Tuesday, and Nixon had "instructed payment."

The committee concluded that:

Nixon should have reported a $151,848 capital gain in 1969 o the sale of his Fifth Avenue cooperative apartment in New York.

Nixon's claim of $91,452 in deductions for depreciation of his San Clemente home and other "business expenses" — including $5,391 for a masked ball his daughter Tricia gave at the White House in May, 1969 — were "not proper" and should be disallowed.

Nixon should have reported a $11,617 capital gain on Tricia's 40 per cent share in the 1972 sale of some Florida property they owned jointly and for which she loaned him $20,000 to buy originally. Tricia should also file an amended return to reflect the transaction accurately, the report said.

Nixon should declare as income the first-class equivalent of flights taken in government planes by members of his family and friends when there was "no business purpose" in the trip —an amount estimated at $27,015 since the White House refused to supply all requested records.

Nixon should declare as income $92,298 in improvements made to his California and Florida homes "undertaken primarily for the President's personal benefit," including a new terrazzo shuffleboard court at Key Biscayne.

Ironically, the report also found Nixon had not gotten all the deductions to which he was entitled —$1,007 more in sales taxes and $10 extra in 1972 gasoline tax deductions.

HEARST

enemies of the people will be shot on sight."

The FBI said Patricia's claim to have joined the SLA would make no difference in their investigation of her kidnaping.

The stunning disclosure that she was throwing in her lot with the SLA dashed hopes of her family who had been informed only 24 houre before that the SLA would announce the time and place of her release within hours.

In an effort to win that release, Hearst spent $2 million in a food giveaway called the People In Need program, and announced another $4 million in food would be handed out when Patricia was released, unharmed.

Early in her broadcast, Patricia said:

"Mom and Dad, I would like to comment on your attempts to free me. The People in Need is a sham, an attempt to deceive the people, the SLA and me. You were playing games, stalling for time."

Addressing her fiance, she said:

"Steven, I know that you are beginning to understand that there is no neutrality in time of war. Love means something different to me now. My love comes from the knowledge that no one can be free until we are all free...I have chosen to stay and fight.

"I have been given the name of Tania after a comrade who fought alongside Che (Guevera) in Bolivia. I embrace the name with the determination to continue fighting with her spirit."

In labeling her father a liar, Patricia said:

"You said you are concerned with my life and the lives and interests of all oppressed people, but you are a liar in both areas as a member of the ruling class. I know your interests and Mom's are never the interests of the people."

"You, a corporate liar, of course will say that you don't know what I am talking about, but I ask you then to prove it, tell the poor and oppressed people of this nation what the corporate state is about to do, warn black and poor people that they are about to be murdered down to the last man, woman and child.

"If you're so interested in the people why don't you tell them what the energy crisis really is. Tell them how it's nothing more than a manufactured strategy, a way of hiding industry's real intentions. Tell the people that the energy crisis is nothing more than a means to get public approval for massive program to build nuclear power plants all over the nation.

"Tell the people that the entire corporate state is, with the aid of this massive power supply, about to totally automate the entire industrial state, to the point that in the next five years all that will be needed will be a small class of button pushers; tell the people, Dad, that all of the lower class and at least half of the middle class will be unemployed in the next three years, and that the removal of expendable excess, the removal of unneeded people has already started."

LAW

crime in the last 10 years.

"I will not buy that theory that society is responsible for criminals. If deprivation is the motive for crime, why wasn't the Depression of the 1930s a time of high crime?" Huntting asked. He charged that "educators, psychologists, newspaper columnists and the court system give the criminal an excuse" and said that in the state, only 9 per cent of those who commit felonies eventually go to prison. "We have a situation where crime pays," he declared.

"You and I and all the law abiding people have wrung our hands and let the permissive forces take over," Huntting said. "We the people" are entitled to justice," he added.

He recited the four-year growth of Citizens for Law and Order since its founding in Oakland to a membership of 2,000 in 97 California cities and 17 states. He urged Marin County citizens to join the movement.

The group "monitors courts for undue leniency," tries to counteract slanted news, watchdogs the Legislature, and upports police agencies, he explained.

"We can't give up plea bargaining if we wanted to," Huntting admitted, because its elimination would create major court logjams. But citizens must watchdog and criticize actions such as the Kline case, he said.

"Most jails are a disgrace because the supervisors won't give the sheriffs decent facilities . . . we must not scrap what prisons we have but we need more, smaller ones," Huntting said. He called for getting "recidivists (repeat offenders) off the merry-go-round" so their defense attorneys "won't make so much money," and called for citizen pressure on judges, district attorneys who fail to prosecute and probation officials, to help reduce crime.

He charged that the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee is dominated by "four men who are dedicated to stopping all bills" submitted by law enforcement factions. He cited the reinstatement of the death penalty by Proposition 17, and charged that Assemblyman Robert Moretti, D-Los Angeles, and others on the committee bottled up needed follow-up bills until Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger forced action.

The same group killed legislation that would have made prison mandatory for convictions in a number of violent or armed crimes, but Younger is working on an initiative to bypass the Legislature, Huntting reported.

He charged that the news media have "swayed the public in favor of criminals" by such actions as calling Patricia Hearst's kidnapers "an army . . . They are terrorist hoodlums and should not be given respect," he declared.

Huntting called for revision of laws on evidence admissibility, use of a six-person jury in noncapital criminal trials with a five-vote majority sufficient for conviction, and elimination of sentencing narcotics offenders to clinics instead of prisons.

Nixon Honors Boy Of Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George R. Clark, 17, of Philadelphia, has been installed as National Boy of the Year by President Nixon.

Clark was selected as 1974 Boy of the Year from among 10 regional winners representing more than 1,100 Boys Clubs with membership of more than a million. The five-member selection committee judged each boy's service to his home, church, school, community and Boys Club.

Presenting Clark with a walnut plaque, the President described him as a lad who "typifies juvenile decency in action."

Clark is president of the senior class at Philadelphia's Thomas A. Edison High School.

Nixon To Paris

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will fly to Paris tomorrow morning to attend memorial services for French President Georges Pompidou, the White House said today.

Nixon Likely Owes Taxes In California

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican State Controller Houston Flournoy said today it is likely that President Nixon owes California back taxes on the profit from sale of some of his San Clemente property in 1970.

He also said Nixon could be subject to a possible criminal charge if there was an allegation of criminal or willful fraud.

At a news conference, Flournoy, chairman of the State Franchise Tax Board, said that a determination of whether the President owes a back tax will be made after the board staff examines a congressional staff report.

That report concluded that Nixon and his wife owed $444,022 in taxes for the 1969-1972 period.

It also said that Nixon should have reported a $117,836 profit on sale of part of the San Clemente estate.

Flournoy was asked whether he believed Nixon owed a back tax to California on the sale of the property.

"It is likely," he said. "It is apparent that he hasn't filed a return with us."

Building In Park Gutted By Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The 84-year-old Sharon Building in Golden Gate Park was gutted by fire yesterday.

Fire fighters answered an alarm at 12:30 a.m. and fought the blaze until 2 a.m. with 76 men and 20 pieces of equipment.

The fire began smoldering, and the firemen had to return to the scene at 7:30 a.m. The cause had not been determined.

The two-story sandstone building was constructed in 1890 with funds from the estate of the late Sen. William Sharon.

The building was being used for recreation department arts and crafts courses.

Bradley Decides Against Running

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — New York Knicks basketball star Bill Bradley says he won't run for Congress this year because of his "personal and professional responsibilities."

"While I have seriously considered this possibility, I have concluded that given the combination of personal and professional responsibilities I would not be a candidate for an elective office in 1974," Bradley said in a statement.

Theft Of Synanon Tapes Admitted A Second Time

A former synanon member who first admitted taking tapes and documents from the treatment center, then denied the burglary, has pleaded guilty a second time.

Twilver Tenola Earle, 25, of San Francisco, drew a one-year county jail sentence last week from judge Charles Read Best of Marin Superior Court.

But if Earle commits himself to the Delancey Street Foundation for treatment of his drug addiction, the jail term will be dropped, Best ruled. Earle also must spend two years on probation.

Earle originally pleaded innocent, then entered a guilty plea in superior court. But just as he was to be sentenced March 25 he withdrew the guilty plea.

After further plea bargaining, he once again pleaded guilty and was sentenced.

A second former Synanon member, George Gilbert Faucette, 61, of Woodacre, has been charged with the January 1973 burglary and faces a preliminary hearing April 9.

Muni Given Grant For New System

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A $910,000 federal grant was announced yesterday for San Francisco's Municipal Railway for development of a system to rekindle popularity in the city's trolley buses.

The system, termed pollution free, would store kinetic energyin a flywheel. The actual driving power would be produced by coupling a motor-generator to the spinning flywheel and transferring the electrical power to the drive motor, officials said.

Overhead wires would eventually be replaced with lamppost-like recharge stations allowing the coaches to leave normal routes in cases of emergencies of traffic jams.

The 30-month contract by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the Department of Transportation was made to Lockheed Missiles and Space Co., of Sunnyvale.

Newspaperboy Is On Recovery Road

OAKLAND (UPI) — An Oakland newsboy who was almost beaten to death March 3 appears well on his way to full recovery, a news conference was told yesterday.

Robert E. Hanson, 10, was attacked and beaten while delivering papers early in the morning. He was in a semicomatose condition until this week and still cannot laugh or speak.

BART Sued For $600,300 On A Charge Of False Arrest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A man who was arrested after asking the U.S. secretary of transportation if President Nixon should be impeached filed suit yesterday for $600,300.

Christopher North, 29, posed the question to U.S. Secretary of Transportation Claude Brinegar during a press conference last May. The U.S. District Court suit alleges he was arrested by Bay Area Rapid Transit police and charged with assaulting a cabinet member, simple assault and resisting arrest.

The assault charges were subsequently dropped and when the case came to court, the district attorney also moved to dismiss the resisting arrest case because of insufficient evidence.

North filed suit charging BART, its general manager B.R. Stokes and several BART police officers with violating his civil rights. He said in the suit he was falsely arrested and imprisoned and subjected to malicious prosecution.

The case was cited by Sen. Sam Ervin in hearings on his protection of privacy bill: "The individual North, who, as far as I know was a law-abiding man who has never been accused of anything in his life — he goes up and asks Mr. Brinegar, Secretary Brinegar, whether he did not think the President ought to be impreached, a question which has been asked by many Americans, including some in congress, and he was arrested.

"The case was thrown out of court on the grounds that there was no evidence for which he was arrested. The court discharged it for lack of evidence. He did not violate any laws. That is pretty strong corroborative evidence of what the man gave us, as it was reported in the press."

No dates have been set in the case.

Weekend Gas Buying Better

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If you buy gasoline on weekdays, the availability is now greater than it has been since before the first of the year, the California State Automobile Association reported yesterday.

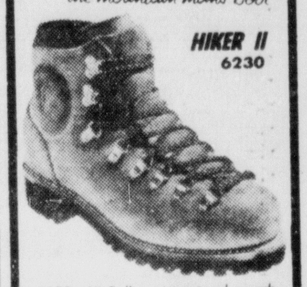

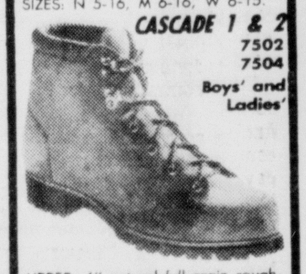

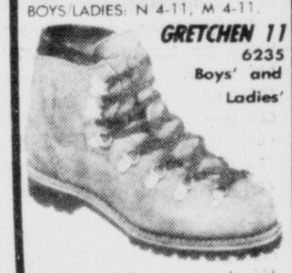

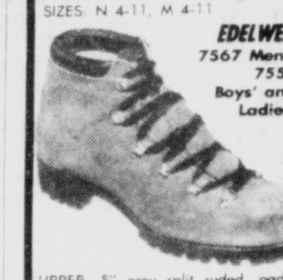

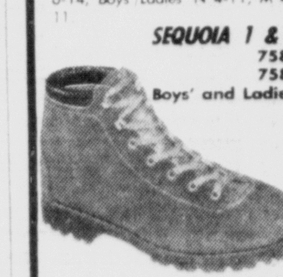

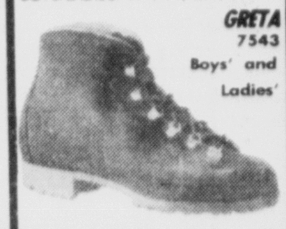

The association said a random survey of 500 Northern California and Nevada service stations showed that problems remain at night and on Sundays, and to a lesser extent on Saturday.

Less than 3 per cent of the stations are open around the clock seven days a week, CSAA said, and 80 per cent are closed on Sundays. About 30 per cent close on Saturdays.

Breakup Of Big Companies Urged

Alan D. French of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, has urged breaking big companies into smaller units to increase competition.

Faithful enforcement of existing antitrust laws would cause retail prices to drop 25 per cent, he said. If elected, French vowed, "I will push for vigorous enforcement of antitrust laws."

Taking a swipe at a fellow candidate for the nomination, Assemblyman John L. Burton of San Francisco, French said one problem with the political system is that incumbent politicians "just don't feel the effect of their own laws."

Burton, for example, "drives a silver El Dorado —paid for by the taxpayers — and gets gassed with a state credit card at a state garage," according to French.

REINECKE — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, has named J. Max Moore of San Francisco as regional chairman of his campaign in Marin and six other counties.

KRUG — Edward M. Krug of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County district attorney, has said he has "mixed feelings" about the death penalty. "I am intellectually opposed to the death penalty," he said, but also asserted "something must be done to permanently rid our society of the horror" of persons like Charles Manson and Sirhan Sirhan. He pledged that if elected he would "uphold the law of the state of California to the best of my ability."

Coffees for Krug will be held: 8 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax home of Sharon Capps, 362 Bolinas Road; 8 p.m. Tuesday at the San Rafael home of Dimitris Mitisios, 259 Johnstone Drive; 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Mill Valley home of Thomas R. Anthony, 5 Bayview Terrace; 7:30 p.m. next Thursday at the San Rafael home of Colin C. Claxon, 2 Regina Way, and 8:30 p.m. next Thursday at the San Rafael home of Alan Teitelbaum, 140 Spring Grove Avenue.

BURTON — George C. Kiskaddon, San Francisco businessman who announced he would seek the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District but did not file, has endorsed another candidate for the nomination, Assemblyman John L. Burton of San Francisco. Kiskaddon founded the Oceanic Society, sometimes called the "Sierra Club of the seas."

BRUNSWIG — A coffee for John Kelling Brunswig, candidate for director of Ross Valley Sanitary District, will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the San Anselmo home of Pieter Toal, 48 Hawthorne Avenue.

Sherlock Clues

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto library board announced that it had bought 69 letters and seven postcards signed by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of the fictional detective Sherlock Holmes. The board, which spent $4,000 on the deal, now believes it has the world's best collection of material on Holmes and Conan Doyle.

Fountain Out For U.N. Plaza

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Art Commission yesterday rejected plans for a $1,150,000 concrete fountain for the United Nations Plaza.

Plans for the fountain in the Bay Area Rapid Transit system's Civic Center station were to be returned to the civic design and visual arts committees of the commission for further work.

There were complaints over the fountain's aesthetic and financial plans.

Mariner 10 Finishes Odyssey Of Mercury; Now Orbiting Sun

PASADENA (UPI) — Mariner 10 wrapped up the Mercury phase of its interplanetary odyssey yesterday and went into "cruise mode" in orbit around the sun with all instruments turned off except three relatively minor experiments.

The ground controllers at Cal Tech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory shut the TV cameras down more than a week early after a short circuit developed in one area of the craft and caused overheating.

A JPL spokesman said, however, that the television picture team had decided that they had all the photographs they needed among the more than 1,000 transmitted since the spacecraft began zeroing in on Mercury a week ago and passing at a distance of about 460 miles.

As it cruised, Mariner still was gathering information about cosmic rays, the solar winds and the interplanetary magnetic fields.

If the short circuit does not damage the mechanisms and if sufficient power is retained, Mariner on Sept. 22 will again pass close to Mercury and the scientists hope to turn the cameras on again to get closeups.

The event is sponsored by the college's concert lecture series.

Barbie Turns 16 And Doesn't Look Day Older

HAWTHORNE (UPI) — Barbie turned 16 yesterday but she doesn't look a day older than when she was born.

To celebrate the occasion, Mattel Inc. threw a "sweet 16" birthday party for perhaps the world's most famous doll with 400 grade school children as guests at the company headquarters where the idea of Barbie first took shape.

There was a five foot high birthday cake and the Hawthorne High School marching band played "Happy Birthday."

Mattell officials said about 80 million Barbie dolls have been sold throughout the world.

Barbie was created by Ruth Handler who, along with her husband, founded Mattel.

Mrs. Handler said she got the idea after watching her daughter playing with paper dolls and seeing that the child preferred a doll with a "mature figure."

LOOKING AT A LOT OF LOOT

San Francisco Police Inspectors (left to right) Sol Weiner, Peter Maloney and Edward Hall, make an inventory of more than $30,000 worth of stolen property which already has been linked to 12 burglaries, eight of them in Marin. The inspectors found the goods — ranging from sporting equipment to an antique cannon — when they went to a San Francisco house Tuesday to serve a warrant. Marin residents wishing to inspect the items should contact their local police agencies, according to Weiner, who said his office has been swamped with phone calls. "Marin law enforcement officers have been over here and they know what we have," the inspector said. "It would save people a lot of time if they would get in touch with them."

Larkspur Seeks North Ridge Action

The creation of a county service area to buy North Ridge lands to preserve them as open space was endorsed last night by the Larkspur City Council.

The vote was 4-to-0 with councilman Alfred J. Malvino absent.

The council also declared that if formation of the county service area goes to the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission for approval the commission should include the marshland east of Highway 101 and north of the California Highway Patrol office in the open space preserve.

Larkspur City Council thus joins Corte Madera Town Council and Mill Valley City Council in urging the formation of the county service area to preserve the uplands. It also wants the marsh preserved, although it is highly potential commercial area, councilman William G. Fleckles pointed out.

Mayor Joan L. Sestak reported that the North Ridge committee wants swift county action so that a bond issue, no amount suggested, can be placed on the November ballot for the 21,000 voters in the Larkspur-Corte Madera-Mill Valley area.

The council asked that county staff start planning immediately for the service area.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

VENDING — Passed an ordinance permitting vending of fresh fruits and vegetables from a truck and passed a resolution granting Richard Greenwald a temporary permit until the ordinance becomes effective in 30 days.

ANIMALS — Introduced two ordinances drawn up by City Mgr. Harlan Barry in cooperation with the Marin County Humane Society regulating animals. In addition to requiring dogs be on leash, one ordinance limits households to three dogs or cats, in apartments of 750 square feet to two, and any dwelling to one colony of bees. It also forbids keeping dangerous animals or domestic animals such as chickens, ducks or geese, or other livestock except by permit of the city manager. The other ordinance allows keeping a horse in single-family residential areas provided there is at least one acre.

DISCLOSURE — Agreed to follow the recommendation of the League of California Cities on filing the financial disclosures of council members and city employees as required by the new state law.

SENIOR CITIZEN — Nominated Elizabeth Bray of 136 Madrone Avenue as the city's nominee for senior citizen of the year. She is former chairman of the library board and a long time resident of Larkspur.

FUNDS — Approved giving $1,500 to the July 4 celebration committee to help defray expenses of fireworks.

FEES — Passed a resolution setting fees for review of preliminary plans per size of the area. It will be $50 per acre with the maximum of $500 for review of plans.

COUNTY — Passed a resolution permitting Marin County to claim funds for constructing bicycle and pedestrian facilities under the state law from the City of Larkspur.

CLOSED MEETING — Went into closed session at 9:25 p.m. and for 85 minutes discussed appointments to the city's commissions. Mayor Sestak announced that the council would start interviewing the 17 applicants for three vacancies on the parks and recreation commission in closed meeting at 7:30 p.m. today. She also announced that the city would accept applications until May 15 for a new member on the design review board, two on the library board and two youth members on the parks and recreation commission. The council will also have closed meetings on filling the vacancies on April 17 and 18.

Department Confused Over Bean Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometimes it seems the Agriculture Department doesn't know beans about beans. Take its latest announcement that it will support beans this year at $6.40 per 100-pound bag.

That might be fine for bean farmers if prices suddenly drop. But for more than a year the cash market has been bringing them far more. As of March 15, prices of beans averaged $47.30 per bag.

Elvis Turns Down $1 Million Offer

SYDNEY (UPI) — Elvis Presley, the king of rock 'n' roll, has turned down a $1 million offer by an Australian promoter for two shows, according to a Sydney newspaper.

The Daily Telegraph reported a spokesman for the promoter, Bob Pritchard, said the reply from Presley's agents in Hollywood was: "Thank you, but if ever we need a million bucks that badly, we'll give you a ring.

Review Tonight On Park Plans

A preliminary park plan for Tamalpais Valley, including possible sites for tennis courts, playing fields and a swimming pool, will be reviewed at a Tamalpais Community Services District meeting today at 8 p.m. at Tamalpais Valley School.

The district is seeking reactions to the park feasibility study done by the firm of Royston, Hanamoto, Beck and Abey, according to Mary Fesler, chairman of the Tamalpais Parks and Recreation Commission.

Following the hearing, the district board will survey residents by mail concerning the plans.

Consumer Protection Act Wins House Victory; Sent To Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Protection Act, called by its advocates "the most important piece of consumer legislation since the regulatory agencies were set up," has passed the House and is headed for nearly certain passage in the Senate.

The House, after more than seven hours of debate, passed the measure, 293-94, yesterday. It creates a Consumer Protection Agency (CPA) and gives it wide powers to battle for consumer rights in government and in the courts.

This marks the third time in four years that one house of Congress has passed the bill. Similar bills died in the House in 1970 and in the Senate in 1972.

President Nixon, who backed a weaker bill offered as a substitute in the House Wednesday, is nevertheless expected to sign the new measure once it wins Senate approval, as expected.

Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., called it "the most important piece of consumer legislation since the regulatory agencies themselves were set up."

Rep. John H. Rousselot, R-Calif., who voted against the measure, said it was unnecessary — "Congress is better suited to represent the interests of consumers than still another federal agency" — and it marked further erosion of Congress' authority by the executive branch.

Besides setting up the new nonregulatory agency, the bill authorizes it to solicit and evaluate consumer complaints, to gather and disseminate information on products and services, and to fund and support research on consumer products.

The House approved three amendments which slightly weaken the measure.

Two, offered by Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., restrict the agency's right to enter lawsuits affecting consumers — it must be invited by the court — and requires it prove any information it might seek from other governmental agencies is relevant and not unnecessarily burdensome.

The other amendment, introduced by Rep. James T. Broyhill, R-N.C., gives Congress "legislative oversight" over the CPA by giving it no more than three years of life. That means Congress will review the program after three years.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, offered a substitute bill, endorsed by the administration, which significantly weakened the CPA, mainly by shifting its legal powers to the Justice Department and restricting access to information from other government agencies.

A SCRAMBLE TO THE LINE

A dog's life isn't always what it's cracked up to be when fresh water is put out in the morning. Two-year-old John Edwards of Carrollton, Tex., a community near Dallas, takes his place in the water line along with the family's 65-pound greyhound, Pasha Madi. The scramble for the water was for the Cheezits sprinkled which the dog likes very much.

Sadat Defied Both U.S., Russia

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

President Anwar Sadat has said he led Egypt into war with Israel last October in defiance not only of the United States but of the Soviet Union. Guns roared today along the Syrian-Israeli front for the 24th day in a row.

Both Syrian and Israeli communiques said opposing artillerymen and tank gunners exchanged fire today along the Golan Heights. Neither side claimed inflicting major casualties or damage.

The war or attrition on the Heights may be aimed in part at influencing troop disengagement talks in Washington. Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan presented the Israeli plan in Washington last week. The Syrian delegate is expected in the U.S. capital later this month.

Egypt's Sadat, in a speech to students at Alexandria University on Wednesday, said, "I will always remain proud because oru decision to fight was made against the will of the two super powers."

Sadat said the Russians even delayed delivery of promised weapons. His speech appeared to confirm reports that Soviet-Egyptian relations are at their lowest ebb since July 1972, when Sadat ordered 15,000 Soviet military personnel out of Egypt.

"The Russians wanted a peaceful solution while the Americans thought that Egypt and the Arabs were a dead body that could not move and had no value," Sadat said.

He said two summit meetings between President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev had led to the Middle East question being put on ice.

"The computer calculations showed Egypt would be crazy to act because it would be doomed to destruction," he said. "But there is always something that escapes computers."

Only in April 1973 did the Russians begin to honor some of their promised arms deliveries, Sadat said, but they still "insisted that military action should not be considered and that we should await a peaceful solution."

PIONEER PROCESSING PLANT

A giant conveyor belt, longer than a football field, moves shredded garbage from a recycling plant to a landfill area in Wilmington, Del. The pioneering solid waste processing plant shreds 1,000 to 1,200 tons of garbage daily, reducing its volume by half, and pulls out 40 tons of steel cans with a powerful magnet. The waste is discharged into the landfill area and the cans sold to a local detinning firm. (UPI Telephoto)

Latin Relations Said Going Good

MIAMI (UPI) — Former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller thinks that relations between the United States and Latin America are on the right track but it will not be easy to keep them that way.

In a speech to about 400 U.S. and Latin American newspaper executives, Rockefeller said most of the credit for putting U.S.-Latin American relations on the right track should go to U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Rockefeller said in an address at the mid-year meeting of the Inter-American Press Association that Kissinger had demonstrated "his qualities of intellectual brilliance, creative diplomacy, his courage and deep human understanding of the aspirations of other peoples and other nations."

A Junkman's Horse Ties Up Traffic

WATFORD, England (AP) — Bonny, a junkman's elderly horse, lay down on a railway crossing and nothing would budget him.

Two trains were halted, traffic built up and hundreds gathered with suggestions. Finally the fire brigade hoisted the sleepy nag off the line with a crane.

Court Halts Beginning Of Coastline Nuclear Plant

SAN ONOFRE (AP) — Bulldozers poised to attack coastline bluffs, making way for a San Onofre nuclear plant expansion, were diverted today by a court order.

Conservation groups trying to save the bluffs hope to have the court order made permanent at an April 12 hearing.

The site is being prepared for two additional electric generating units.

In its temporary restraining order yesterday, the Fourth District Court of Appeal said construction crews were free to proceed with construction except for the bluffs, less than a mile from President Nixon's Western White House in San Clemente.

Conservation groups which sought the ruling said they would present arguments at the hearing to halt the work.

But the board chairman of Southern California Edison Co. blasted their effort as "obstructionalist tactics." Delays, said Jack K. Horton, have contributed to the three-year stalemate which has added $500 million to the project costs.

"These additional costs must ultimately be borne by taxpayers of Edison and San Diego Gas and Electric," he added.

The conservationists seek to nullify the construction permit granted in February by the California Coastline Commission. Their suit was filed by the Environmental Coalition of Orange County, Guard, Friends of the Earth, Scenic Shoreline Preservation Conference, Inc., and two individuals.

The Sierra Club and San Diego Coastwatch, which were opposed to the powerplant addition in the coastal commission hearings, did not join in the current suit.

In its go-ahead, the coastline commission reversed itself after the project was modified to protect almost all of the scenic bluffs and additional safeguards were imposed to protect marine life in the area.

Garden Doesn't Need Large Space

NEW YORK (UPI) — You don't need a large spoace for a garden. Maturity dates on many varieties of vegetables vary widely. You can grow a surprising quantity of vegetables in a modest area that is sunny most of the day, has average soil, good drainage and a minimum of competition from the roots of trees and shrubs.

So say Burpee horticulturists in their booklet, Gardening for Pleasure.

Two Are Given Drug Sentences

Two San Rafael men have drawn jail sentences after pleading guilty to misdemeanor possession of marijuana in Marin Municipal Court.

Sentenced to 60 days in jail and two years' probation was Randolph Alan Hartz, 19. Scott Francis McNear, also 19, drew 45 days in jail and two years' probation from Judge Robert A. Smallman.

Also arrested at Hartz's apartment Jan. 4 was Harold Lewis Mitchell, but although San Rafael police said he had a tin box of bartiturates, he was not charged.

The arrests came after an undercover agent arranged to buy marijuana from Hartz, according to police.

Profits Denied In Beef Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Agriculture Committee was told yesterday$ retail beef prices have closely followed changes in wholesale prices charged by meat packers.

Clarence G. Adamy, President of the National Association of Food Chains, testified retailers have not fattened profits by keeping beef prices high during recent montns of depressed live cattle prices.

With recent declines in wholesale prices, Adamy testified, "the price of beef at retail has been continuing to decline and many cuts are now selling at the lowest prices since early 1973."

Convict, 31, Found Stabbed, Strangled

The stabbed and strangled body of a 31-year-old convict was found in his cell yesterday, done in by killers who left no clue, according to San Quentin officials.

John Ray Labrum was stabbed 25 times and strangled with a radio wire. He was found in his locked cell shortly after 4 p.m. by his cellmate who was returning from work.

The body, fully clothed, was found slumped over the cell's toilet.

Officials theorized that Labrum, a suspected drug dealer, may have been killed in a narcotics dispute.

Labrum was serving a life term for burglary and robbery. He was arrested in June of 1965 for burglarizing his father's service station in Redwood City. He was sent to San Quentin for a parole violation in 1971.

In September of 1971, he failed to return from a work furlough and a few days later was involved in the robbery of a South San Francisco liquor store, according to a prison spokesman.

Labrum was captured after a shootout with San Francisco police and returned to San Quentin.

The Marin County Coroner's office said Labrum apparently died from the stab wounds rather than the strangulation. An autopsy is planned.

Survivors include his mother, Sue Labrum of South San Francisco.

Toddler Falls Into Pool At Apartment

A 14-month-old boy who nearly drowned yesterday, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

The youngster is Adrienne Shepra, of 55 Corte Real, Larkspur. Police said they know only that the youngster fell into the swimming pool of the apartment building while being cared for by a babysitter; they had no information on the parents' name or circumstances. The boy was hospitalized at 2:57 p.m. after being brought in by ambulance.

Coffee Lovers Note: A Price Hike Coming

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cry your hearts out, coffee lovers. The next shortage is going to hit you right in the percolator.

Droughts and frosts have reduced the world's exportable coffee production for 1973-74 by approximately 20 per cent, down to 44.7 million bags, according to the Agriculture Department.

The Department said yesterday that dry weather in Africa and frost damage in Brazil lowered overall production to 64.3 million bags of 132.2 pounds each, down 16 per cent from the 1972-73 crop of 76.4 million bags.

After taking into account the amount of coffee likely to be consumed in the producing countries, it is estimated that 44.7 million bags will be available for export to the United States and other countries. This is 22 per cent below last seasons revised estimate of 57.2 million bags.

The Agriculture Department said reserve stocks will be drawn down by about10 million bags during the current season because of the reduced stock.

Gorski Given Gun Sentence

The manager of the San Rafael Inn on Francisco Boulevard has been sentenced to 30 days in county jail on his guilty plea to being an ex-felon in possession of a weapon.

John Gorski, 52, also drew two years' probation from Judge Robert A. Smallman of Marin Municipal Court.

Gorski was arrested in January after he reportedly fired several shots from a motel window into the street.

Judge Smallman also ordered Gorski to surrender the handgun used in the shooting and not to own any firearm during his probationary period.

Auto Makers Feel Worst Is Over

DETROIT (UPI) — Despite sales figures that show they sold fewer cars in the first three months of 1974 than in any first quarter since 1967 U.S. automakers said today, "We've turned the corner."

The bare figures would not seem to support their optimism, since sales in March were off 29.6 per cent from 1973s record March results. In the first quarter, sales of 1,771,353 new cars were off 27.4 per cent from 1973's first three months.

The March sales, however, were up 6.3 per cent from February and 18.6 per cent higher than January, the lowest month since the sales decline hit last October, even before the beginning of the Arab oil embargo.

Keeping a close eye on those sales figures and hoping for a spring upturn are more than 100,000 auto industry workers who have been out of work since the energy crisis-induced slump began last October. Thousands more have been idled for periods of one to five weeks since the beginning of the year.

March marked the sixth straight month that sales have been below year-ago figures, but executives now are comparing March against the previous months of the slump.

"The March sales show several important factors," R. K. Brown, group vice president, U.S. automotives sales for Chrysler Corp. said.

"First, large car sales are strengthening and now account for about three out of every five domestic car sales.

"Secondly, car sales appear to be leveling off. This in the face of increasing small car inventories, and third, used car demand for large cars is strengthening, with some models up $150 in price over mid-February."

"Our March sales definitely turned the corner," James Naughton, Ford Motor Co. vice president for sales. "The car sales rate was the highest for any month since November, 1973, and the March increase over February was considerably stronger than the average for the past five years."

Mack W. Worden, vice president-marketing for General Motors Corp., which showed a 37.8 per cent drop in March and a decline of 36.5 per cent for the first three months, also was optimistic the spring would bring a sales improvement.

"The price of used cars continues to climb and this, coupled with a reported rise in consumer confidence, is intensibying buyer interest in new cars," Worden said.

"Full-size cars, in particular, are gaining in strength," he said. "In March, they accounted for 39.2 per cent of our total, compared with 36.6 per cent in February and 34.7 per cent in January."

During March, only American Motors Corp. showed continuing sales gains because of its dependence on small cars. The smallest of the automakers sold 35,776 cars in the month, up 4.3 per cent on a daily rate basis from 35,602 last year. Sales in the first quarter were up 12 per cent.

General Motors Corp. sold 303,158 cars in March, down 37.8 per cent from a year ago, while sales in the first three months were off 36.5 per cent.

Chrysler sales of 123,673 cars in March showed a 19.9 per cent decline from a year ago, while the first quarter figures showed a 10.1 per cent decline. Ford dealers sold 190,672 cars in March, off 24.2 per cent from March of 1973, while sales in the first three months were down 22.6 per cent.

New Sensor May Provide Vital Information About The Oceans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency says it has had promising results from a sensing device which may enable satellites to tell man what's polluting the oceans or the best place for commercial fishermen to cast their nets.

Space agency scientists said the sensor developed by Goddard Space Flight Center was tested last fall by scientists using C130 airplanes, and promises to bring "man a step closer to monitoring ocean currents and river outflow from space."

While it gave no specific timetable, the department said the new sensor "is considered a forerunner to instruments carried by sea-watching satellites planned for the future."

George Maul, an oceanographer with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, said the 10-band device detects variations in ocean colors ranging from just visible blue to nearly indistinguishable red.

The scanner was developed primarily to detect water quality changes and circulation in connection wtih coastal mapping, but Maul said "We are also particularly interested in locating sewer outflows from metropolitan areas and how they affect the beaches."

"From that data, we can determine whether the particulates are harmful to swimmers in the area."

He said the instrument might also help identify so-called "red tides" that occur when sea water is discolored by masses of single cell organisms which can be deadly to some sea life. Maul said this might enable scientists to determine what triggers such tides and eventually predict them.

Another possible use would be to define the boundaries of ocean currents and thereby locate concentrations of microorganisms called plankton which drift with the currents and attract fish.

The scientists also are interested in the relationship of currents and wind, especially in the subtropics. The sensor picks up the reflection of whitecaps caused by wind flowing against the current, enabling scientists to define the current more accurately.

The Department compared the concept with the less complex Earth Resources Technology Satellite (ERTS) which is presently scanning land surfaces to gather information needed to help manage and utilize earth's natural resources.

Among other things, ERTS is helping locate oil deposits and potential hydroelectric dam sites that might ease the energy shortage.

Economy without cramps.

Buying a compact car with a six-cylinder engine can make room in your budget. If that compact car is an economical 1974 Chevy Nova 6, you'll also end up with a lot of room in your car. "Automotive Industries' Roominess Index" says no domestic compact at any price has more head and shoulder room, front and rear, than Nova. The roomy, economical Nova 6 comes in three versatile models, 2-door, 4-door and Hatchback. All in all, Nova 6 makes a lot of sense right now.

The 4-Door. The Nova's rear seat is so roomy, some people like to get to it fast. The four-door version of the Nova 6 makes this easy. From this point on, the rear seat passengers are carried economically to their destination by Nova's proven six-cylinder engine. Just like passengers in other Nova models. And like other Novas, the four-door traditionally maintains high resale value.

In-Lieu Fees Fatten City, County Coffers

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The state funneled more than $2 million into Marin and Southern Sonoma county coffers and city treasuries last month when it parceled out "in-lieu" motor vehicle license fees, according to the state controller's office.

The payments reflected February collections by the Department of Motor Vehicles of an excise tax of $1 per $100 market value on each vehicle licensed. It is paid in lieu of local property taxes on the vehicles.

The amount each county and city receives is determined by census.

The distribution to Marin County was $535,747; to Sonoma County, $584,052. The apportionment to the cities was:

Belvedere, $8,722; Corte Madera, $29,011; Cotati, $7,971; Fairfax, $25,712; Larkspur, $41,533; Mill Valley, $44,470; Novato, $118,475; Petaluma, $100,854; Rohnert Park, $38,596; Ross, $9,202; San Anselmo, $44,134; San Rafael, $149,933; Sausalito, $20,707, and Tiburon, $20,838.

Freeway Lighting To Be Turned Off

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — About 8,000 lights along California freeways will be turned off in the next few months to save energy and cut maintenance costs.

State Department of Transportation Director Howard C. Ullrich said yesterday the saving should be about $650,000 a year.

Judge Orders Questionnaires Returned To Grand Jury Panel

A Marin judge emphatically ordered the public defender yesterday to return questionnaires to grand jury panelists who complied with the defender's request to answer.

"If you want to question those grand jurors," Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best told deputy public defender Larry K. Heon, "you'll have to do it in court so their rights can be protected."

The 32-part questionnaires were sent to the 19 current grand jury members and 60 other persons nominated for the panel but not selected.

The inquiries asked questions about jurors' private lives, finances, affiliations and ethnic backgrounds. Heon was to use the information to attempt to quash a murder indictment against Marcello Baeza, a San Quentin inmate.

Heon objected strenuously to Best's order, telling the judge: The court is interfering with the defense's right to use investigative tools outside the courtroom. This will set us back in our motion to challenge the indictment and will cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars."

But Best, his voice rising, told Heon: "I want it (the questionnaire) stopped and stopped immediately."

The judge said Heon may subpoena each of the 79 jury panelists, bring them into court and pose questions to them in the judge's presence.

Best's recall order went considerably beyond his announcement last week that he would write to the jury panelists and tell them they didn't have to answer the questionnaire if they didn't want to.

Best said certain of the questions are improper, but once again he declined to specify which ones.

"If they (the jury panelists) want to come into court and waive their right (to privacy), they may. But if they wish to assert that right, they may do that also," said he.

Judge Best gave Heon permission to send questionnaires to panelists from past grand juries as long as they are accompanied by a letter clearly telling them they are under no obligation to answer.

He distinguished between the current grand jury and past ones because, he said, present jurors could be intimidated by the questionnaire and that could affect the jury's functions.

Baeza, 28, is charged with the fatal stabbing of fellow inmate Lynwood Bell, 24, in the prison's exercise yard Aug. 30.

Drops Gas Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Riverside County was released from the voluntary odd-even gasoline marketing program yesterday and Gov. Ronald Reagan said Alameda County will drop the plan Sunday.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Parents Of Pregnant Teen-Ager Give Their Side Of The Story

DEAR HELEN:

"Sally," the sad little pregnant teen-ager who said her family was deciding about her illegitimate baby as if it were a puppy to be given away, sees only one side: hers.

I could be Sally's mother, and I've cried until there are no tears left. Our daughter, who has never been denied anything, just told me she is six months pregnant, and this only because I noticed she was getting fat.

She has broken up with her boyfriend and is only a junior in high school. Yet she insists on keeping the baby. How? — Her parents will take over of course. She feels this is our duty.

But her parents are over 50, looking forward to retirement, and not wealthy. Delivery alone will cost $800, not counting the hospital. And that's only the beginning. While our daughter attends school, I'll be raising her child, and I can't face a new family at this late date. She is not mature enough to be a mother. She thinks of the baby as a new doll to play with — something her folks will buy her, as they've bought everything else.

Yes, we're being mean. We're insisting on having the baby adopted out. Talking reason to our daughter gets us nowhere and so we've issued an ultimatum: either marriage, with all the responsibilities, including financial ones, or back to being a teen-ager with this episode behind her, the baby in a good home.

Is this as cruel as our daughter thinks? — MISERABLE PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS:

No! This is the practical solution. If a girl isn't willing to take responsibility for her baby, she isn't mature enough to keep it. And if she insists it's her parents' duty to raise their grandchild, then somewhere along the line she has been terribly spoiled.

Since you can't get the message through, we'd suggest a counselor who might demonstrate, through visits to adoption agencies, the local Birthright organization, parents of adopted children, etc. that the unselfish way is to think of the baby's welfare first. — HELEN AND SUE

DEAR RAP:

My guy and I love each other, but he's too sweet and considerate when it comes to my girlfriend. She chases him! He won't tell her to bug off and when I say something, she calls me jealous and tries even harder.

Whenever we're together, there she is, hogging the conversation and flirting with him. (He says he hates it.) This girl and I have been friends for a long time, and so it's hard for me to fight with her.

What can we do when he's too polite and I don't want to look like a meanie? — HAUNTED

HAUNTED:

Obviously your boyfriend doesn't like this girl, so you have no real worry. I think she'll get the message, even though he doesn't bluntly tell her to bug off. So take a little inconvenience — and hope she finds someone else soon. — SUE

DEAR HAUNTED:

I'm not so sure you have no real worry. If your boyfriend didn't like the attention, he might try harder to avoid it.

At any rate, a threesome is no fun, and a "friend" who chases your guy is one you'd be better off without. Don't be quite so kind. — HELEN

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902., if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY LEE ECKE

Susan Norine Camiccia Weds Timothy L. Ecke

St. Rita's Catholic Church in Fairfax was the setting for the Saturday nuptials of Susan Norine Camiccia of Fairfax and Timothy Lee Ecke of San Rafael.

Mmes. Shirley Cole of Petaluma and Eileen Tuthill of Novato were the honor attendants for Susan, and the bridesmaids were Susan's sister, Sandra Camiccia of Fairfax, and Nancy Zittela of Novato.

Robert Ecke served his brother as best man. The guests were ushered to seats by Dave Johnson and Joe Guerts of San Rafael and Kevin Kilbride of Petaluma.

The reception followed at San Geronimo National Golf Club, and the couple left for a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe. Susan and Timothy will live in San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Camiccia of Fairfax and the granddaughter of Mrs. Mamie Camiccia of San Anselmo. A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, Susan attended the College of Marin and is a flight attendant for Western Airlines, based in San Francisco.

Timothy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ecke of Willits. He is a San Rafael High School graduate, attended the College of Marin and is a fireman with the San Anselmo Fire Department.

Bonnie Garety Named To Head Cancer Drive

Bonnie Garety of Greenbrae will head the American Cancer Society's 1974 crusade drive in Marin County.

Mrs. Garety will coordinate the activities of hundreds of crusade workers throughout Marin. Volunteers will attempt to reach every resident with the life saving message about the hopeful side of cancer, according to Dr. Norman F. Carrigg, president of the society's local unit.

The fund raising drive will culminate in a house to house solicitation between April 19 and 22.

Slogan for the drive is "We Want To Wipe Out Cancer in Your Lifetime."

A native of Oakland, Mrs. Garety has lived in Marin for 23 years. Her husband, Roger, is an attorney. They have two sons and a daughter.

Mrs. Garety's involvement with the American Cancer Society was prompted by the loss of a daughter at age 14 in 1958 caused by cancer. She has been a volunteer for the past eight years, serving most recently as editor of the Marin Unit American Cancer Society Newsletter and vice president of the current board of directors. She has been elected president of the board for the 1974-75 year and will take office in September.

MRS. ROGER GARETY

Mrs. Garety was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and recently resumed her education to obtain a credential to teach English as a second language.

New Nursery School Is Due In San Rafael's Canal Area

A new parent-organized nursery school will open April 16 for pre-school children of San Rafael Canal area residents.

Beginning April 16 the cooperative nursery school will be open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the Bahia Vista School.

An open house will be held April 15 from 9:30 a.m. to noon to introduce the program to prospective members and their children, according to Geraldine Ryan, school president.

Because it is a parent cooperative school and will charge minimum enrollment fees, adults will be expected to donate time and services on a regular basis, Mrs. Ryan said.

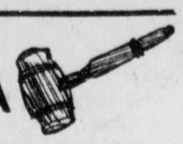

The non-profit school plans to expand to a five-day-a-week program in the fall, she added.

The new cooperative nursery school will be for youngsters aged 2 years and 9 months to kindergarten age, and the school has the backing of the Bahia Vista Elementary School and the Marin Council of Parent Participation Nursery Schools.

The school was organized, Mrs. Ryan said, because the San Rafael Canal area has no other pre-school cooperative nursery school and other Marin cooperative nursery school programs have long waiting lists.

Canal area parents who wish further information may call Mrs. Ryan, Kathy Ferguson or Anne Jaschke, all of San Rafael.

Tryouts Over For June Show

Some 97 girls of the 122 who participated in tryouts have qualified for the June Ballet Aquacade at McNear's Beach in San Rafael.

Another 112 girls will be substitutes for the production of swim and ballet, according to Mrs. William Niemann, president of Ballet-Aquacade of Marin.

The instructor first saw the molas on a trip to Mexico. She purchased some examples of the craft later in New York, and took the blouses apart to learn the methods by which the intricate multi-layered cut-out work had been achieved.

Group Is Formed To Fight Cancer

A new organization, the Marin Chapter of Friends of Cancer Immunology, was formed last month with leadership from the Tiburon Peninsula members.

The local chapter is the fourth in Northern California, following the original group in San Francisco and those in Stockton and Eureka.

The aim of FOCI is to support cancer immunology, to develop new diagnostic and therapeutic measures to fight cancer and related diseases by raising funds for laboratory research and immunotherapy care for cancer patients in Northern California.

The first program to receive help is the Tumor Immunology Program of the Immunology Research Laboratory in collaboration with the Zellerbach Saroni Tumor Institute of Mount Zion Hospital, San Francisco. Drs. Ernest H. Rosenbaum and Myron Blume head the research at Mount Zion Hospital. Their research includes experiments with blood donations from cured cancer patients and learning more about the immune response.

Two informational meetings have been held to introduce interested Marin residents to the purposes of FOCI, one at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sperry in Belvedere and one at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gomez in Belvedere last week. They have already attracted 100 members.

Mrs. Donald M. Smith of Belvedere is the chapter's first president.

Plans for the new group's first big fund-raising project are going forward. They have reserved Corinthian Yacht Club for a cocktail party and auction on May 31. Mrs. Russell Gomez and Mrs. Jack C. Welisch are chairman; Mrs. Robert Hopps, silent auction chairman.

Governor Avoids Question On Reinecke Resignation

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan avoided saying whether Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke should resign yesterday but said he presumes Reinecke is innocent of all charges.

At an impromptu news conference, Reagan was asked if he believed Reinecke should resign his office because of the indictment returned by a Watergate grand jury.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'm going to presume him innocent unless and until proven guilty beyond a shadow of a doubt," the governor replied.

Reagan picked Reinecke as his heir-apparent in 1969 when Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch joined the Nixon administration.

The governor said he was disappointed by the indictment but it should have no affect on his administration or on the State Controller Houston Flournoy, competing with Reinecke for the Republican nomination for governor to succeed Reagan, said he was sorry to hear about the indictment "because Ed Reinecke is a friend of mine."

Flournoy said it would be inappropriate to comment further because the matter is now before the courts.

But Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, a Democratic gubernatorial contender, said the indictment will probably make Flournoy the leading Republican candidate.

He said Reinecke's indictment is "politically a very telling and chilling blow."

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., competing with Moretti for the Democratic nomination, said he thought Reinecke was "another victim of the Nixon administration's complete disregard for the rule of law."

"But like any person accused of a crime, he should be presumed innocent until proven guilty," Brown said.

Reinecke won the California Republican Assembly's endorsement last month in a contest with Flournoy.

Darrell Meyer, CRA president, said the endorsement will not be reconsidered because of the indictment.

"We are firmly convinced of his innocence," Meyer said. "The ITT matter was discussed at length prior to our endorsement and there is absolutely no reason to change our opinion."

California Republican Chairman Gordon Luce noted that as party chairman he has taken a neutral position with regard to the candidates.

"I would like to see all of them have the best possible chance to take their case to the voters," he said.

Suisun Marsh Dump Dropped

FAIRFIELD (UPI) — Plans to locate a huge regional garbage dump within the Suisun Marsh wildlife area in Solano County were dropped yesterday.

Envirosol Inc. of Seattle notified the board of supervisors that "a substantial change of circumstances" led to the action. A special meeting had been scheduled next Monday for the board to hear an appeal from the company on a planning commission decision denying a use permit for the project.

Duck hunters and conservationalists had fought the project for the past year, claiming it would do irreparable damage to the wildlife area.

SLA's 'Enemies' Appear Unruffled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two persons wanted by the so-called Symbionese Liberation Army appeared outwardly calm at news that the revolutionary band had marked them for death. (See also, story page 1.)

"I guess I'll just have to die or something," said Colton Westbrook, after learning yesterday of the SLA's threat.

Westbrook, Chris Thompson and Robin Steiner were labeled "enemies of the people" and informers in the latest SLA communique. It said the three "are to be shot on sight whenever found and at anytime."

In separate interviews, Westbrook and Thompson, both black, criticized SLA guerrillas for assassinating black educator Marcus Foster and kidnaping newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst. Miss Steiner, 20, a white woman, could not be reached for comment.

Westbrook, a 35-year-old University of California at Berkeley graduate student in linguistics and parttime teaching assistant, conceded he probably deserved to be on the SLA death list.

"The SLA knows I am a threat. I have a lot of material information. They know I know them," he said.

KQED-TV reporter Marilyn Baker was with Thompson, 35, when he heard the SLA tape calling for his death.

"He did not appear to be afraid, he was cool, he was calm. He said I'm afraid they, meaning the SLA, made another mistake, just as they made when they murdered Foster," Miss Baker said.

Meanwhile there was much speculation about the tapes, released yesterday, in which Miss Hearst said she had joined the SLA.

Was it the real Patricia Hearst, the mildly liberal sophomore art history student, who renounced her parents and her identity as a publishing heiress to join the terrorists who kidnaped her.

Last Feb. 4, three persons broke into her Berkeley apartment and dragged her screaming and half-naked into a car.

"Please let me go!" she pleaded as her abductors sprayed the neighborhood with gunfire.

Yesterday, in taped and written messages received by a radio station, Miss Hearst said:

"I have been given the choice of (1) being released in a safe area, or (2) joining the forces of the Symbionese Liberation Army and fighting for my freedom and the freedom of all oppressed people. I have chosen to stay and fight."

What Miss Hearst seemed to be saying was that she was joining forces with the group whose reasons for the kidnaping were "for crimes her mother and father committed against the American people and the people of the world."

Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner who arranged a $2 million food dole and another potential handout of $4 million, doesn't believe it.

Steven Weed, to whom she was engaged to be married this summer, doesn't believe it.

The FBI agents in charge of the case, Charles Bates, said: "As far as we're concerned, we still have violations of the law we are investigating." Bates said he did not know whether Patricia was staying with the SLA of her own free will. "I don't feel it makes any difference in our investigation," he said.

But U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr., potential prosecutor of the kidnapers, allows the possibility the 20-year-old University of California coed might have conspired in her own kidnaping.

If so, "then you don't have a crime," he said.

She scolded her mother for wearing black in an earlier tape. She told her father he wasn't handling the food giveaway properly. She told the FBI not to try to rescue her.

On March 9, she said, "The SLA are not the ones who are harming me. It's the FBI, along with your indifference to the poor, that have failed to deal with the people . . . in a meaningful and fair way."

Before the kidnaping, Miss Hearts's rebellion against the establishment seemed to have taken no more violent forms than refusing to appear as a debutante.

Not long before the kidnaping, she told her father, "Dad, nobody under 80 reads the Examiner any more. It has become irrelevant to the times."

Professor At College Shot In The Throat

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A professor emeritus of geography was reported in stable condition after he was shot twice in the throat during an armed robbery at San Francisco State University, authorities report.

Dr. Walter Hacker, 71, was shot in a men's room yesterday with a .22-caliber revolver after he refused to turn over his wallet to a gunman, police said.

Hacker staggered into a corridor as more than a dozen persons chased the gunman through campus buildings. The holdup man finally was arrested by a policeman as he tried to commandeer a passing car for his getaway.

Police said Michael J. Boyd, 25, was booked for investigation of attempted murder and armed robbery.

ACHING FEET — Deborah May and Kathryn Crosby (right), two chorines from the present production of the American Conservatory Theater's production of the comic-melodrama "Broadway," console each other over aching feet. The play is currently in repertory at San Francisco's Geary Theater.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Broadway,' ACT's Finale Of Season Is Deft, Delightful

By GERALD GENYSE

SAN FRANCISCO — The American Conservatory Theater's final production of the season the comedy-drama, "Broadway," by Philip Dunning and George Abbott, which opened Tuesday night at the Geary Theater, is a deft and delightful production, with a few minor flaws, set in New York in the "Roaring Twenties."

"Broadway", takes place backstage at a nightclub that caters to the "mob" - gangsters, bootleggers, their girls and assorted hangers on.

We see this slice of Americana through the eyes of the chorus girls, mobsters, their lieutenants; Dan McCord, an honest cop; Nick Verdis, the club owner; Lil Rice, a slightly aging and very funny torch singer; Roy Lane, an aspiring hoofer and Billie Moore, an All-American type who seems out of place in this fast company.

Ray Reinhardt, who does an excellent job as Nick, is rehearsing the chorus girls as the play begins. The girls are an assortment of kooks, wisecrackers, shrewd operators and one is a plant by a mobster, Scar Edwards, from across town.

Judith Knaiz and Elizabeth Huddle are the funniest of the lot. They are in constant conflict with each other and anyone else who might try to take advantage of them in this tough atmosphere.

Kathryn Crosby is quite good as Pearl who has been planted by Scar to keep an eye on things.

The girls are at their best when they are making their hilarious entrances and exits. One number's theme is the girls of all nations. Miss Knaiz has a three-foot Eiffel Tower strapped to her head, and Fredi Olster sports a mechanical windmill and wooden shoes.

James R. Winker as Roy Lane, is the sole male working with the girls. He is an ambitious, yet uncertain young man who has his sights set on bigger things. Lane is preparing a song and dance act with one of the chorus girls, Billie Moore, played by Deborah May.

Winker and Miss May work nicely together. Winker has a nice facility for creating a character who is slightly silly but sympathetic. Miss May always acquits herself well in the difficult romantic lead parts.

The drama in the play is set off by a slick bootlegger, Steve Crandall played by Charles Lanyer. He shoots his rival, Scar Edwards and sets off a chain of events that culminates in his death at the hands of Scar's girl friend, Pearl.

Lanyer has not quite developed the authority and confidence to play Crandall as he should be portrayed. Lanyer also affects a New York accent that is forced and inconsistent.

Roger Kern as Dan McCorn, the low keyed Irish cop who pursues and forces Crandall into making mistakes, is excellent.

Because he tries to be less menacing than the other mobsters in the play, Charles Hallahan as Porky, one of Crandall's torpedoes, is the most believable. Hallahan is hilarious in a drunk scene with Lil Rice on their wedding night.

Ruth Kobart must receive kudos for her performance as Lil Rice. She is quick witted and worldly. Lil looks as if she could hold the weight of the world on her shoulders and not budge an inch.

The set by Ralph Funicello and costumes by Robert Morgan are excellent. They add a great deal of authenticity to the production.

"BROADWAY" — A three-act play by Philip Dunning and George Abbott. Directed by Edward Hastings for the American Conservatory Theater. Scenery, Ralph Funicello; costumes, Robert Morgan; Lighting, Fred Kopp; musical arrangements, Harold Zollman. The cast: Nick Verdis, Ray Reinhardt; Roy Lane, James R. Winker; Lil Rice, Ruth Kobart; Katie, Lou Ann Graham; Joe, Andy Backer; Mazie, Judith Knaiz; Ruby, Elizabeth Huddle; Pearl, Kathryn Crosby; Grace, Fredi Olster; Ann, Janie Atkins; Billie Moore, Deborah May; Steve Crandall, Charles Lanyer; Dolph, Henry Hoffman; "Porky" Thompson, Charles Hallahan; Scar Edwards, Len Auclair; Dan McCorn, Roger Kern; Benny, E. Kerrigan Prescott; Larry, Stephen Schnetzer; Duke, Rick Hamilton; gangsters, Karl Ellis, Lawrence Hecht, Dom Magwili.

A Defense Fund For Guardsmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $10,000 defense fund for 13 Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the shooting deaths of four Kent State University students was announced Wednesday by the National Guard Association of the United States.

Announcement of the fund followed a statement by the Ohio attorney general that he would not provide legal assistance to the defendants.

Maj. Gen. Henry W. McMillan, president of the association, said "we feel a moral responsibility to help ensure a competent defense for the defendants in the controversial case. . .the guardsmen at Kent State were under official state orders to restore order in extremely violent and tense student riots. They are entitled to financial assistance that will assure them the best possible legal aid."

Fairfax Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe, also allegedly involved in the melee, faces a preliminary hearing April 15 on a felony count of assault with a deadly weapon.

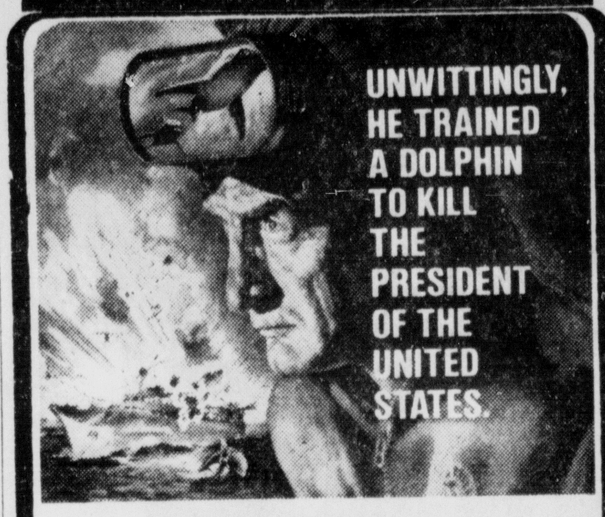

The two are alleged to have fought in a city street in the aftermath of a bitter town council election. Crowe told police Davidson broke a beer bottle over his head, while the youth said Crowe hit him in the back with an ax.

Moretti Claims Brown's Voter Pamphlet 'Illegal'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti today accused Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. of engaging in a "illegal and deceptive" attempt to further his candidacy for governor.

Moretti, himself a Democratic contender for governor, announced he would file suit in court Monday to prevent the distribution of the voters' handbook for the June 4 primary election.

Moretti cited a letter in the front cover of the newly-expanded pamphlet in which Brown summarized in his own words the contents of nine ballot propositions.

He charged the secretary of state had no legal authority to make such summaries.

At a news conference, Moretti called the summaries "a love letter to the voters of California from the secretary of state."

The letter explained that the pamphlet has been expanded to make it easier to read with less legal language.

Brown said the changes "were made possible by a new law sponsored by my office, introduced in the legislature by Sen. David A. Roberti, and actively supported by the League of Women Voters."

Moretti said Brown's summaries "may be prejudicial" and could jeopardize the entire election because he has no authority to make such summaries.

Brown's summaries are in addition to the regular official and title and summary prepared in the pamphlet by Attorney General Evelle Younger.

Moretti said none of the handbooks have been mailed to voters but are being readied for distribution to county clerks.

Brown's office said four million have been printed so far and the total distribution will be about 11 million.

Catto and his wife, the former Jessica Hobby, have four children.

Catto was national finance director of the United Citizens for Nixon and Agnew in 1968. He has been a partner in a brokerage firm and director of publishing interests in the Houston and Galveston area.

Farm Price Drops Help Hold Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Falling farm prices held the rise in the nation's wholesale prices during March to the lowest level since October despite rises in most other categories the government said today.

Fuel prices, for the first time in six months, failed to lead the way in the wholesale price boosts. First place was taken over by soaring supplies for industry, contributing about 28 per cent of the March boost.

But the Bureau of Labor Statistics said increases in the price of fuel made up about 25 per cent of the March hike in the wholesale price index. Oil product prices again contributed to most of the increase in fuel costs, but wholesale prices for electric power, coal, natural gas and coke also moved up.

The wholesale price index pushed upward by 1.2 per cent, smaller than February's 1.5 per cent hike and the lowest since last October when wholesale prices dropped by 0.5 per cent.

During December and January, when the index moved up by as much as 3.5 per cent,the wholesale index was increasing at a rate roughly double that of retail prices.

However, in February and March the level tapered off to approximate the retail hikes. The most recent report on consumer prices, issued last month, showed a 1.3 per cent boost.

The BIS said metals made the largest contribution to the rise in industrial commodities during March, with steel mill products up 5.5 per cent and iron and scrap iron up 14.7 per cent. Prices of fabricated metal products also increased.

A substantial drop in prices on the wholesale food markets, the first in four months, helped stabilize the overall increase. The index for farm products moved downward by 4.2 per cent during March.

The major farm price declines came in livestock, grains, raw cotton, eggs, fresh fruits, vegetables and live poultry. Processed foods also dropped 1 per cent.

College Board Fails On Minority Hirings

Falling one vote short, Marin Community College District trustees last night came within an eyelash of finally adopting a policy requiring that women and minoirty members be recruited for district jobs.

Three of four trustees present supported the policy (trustee Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. obstained from the vote) according to Earlene Jones, district publicist. Trustees Donald K. Felt, William J. Filante and Martin J. Dean were absent.

The "affirmative action" policy has been on the board's agenda at nearly every meeting this year. But it has been stalled as trustees tried to decide if an affirmative action officer would be hired to carry out the program or if existing staff would perform the task.

In accord with recommenadations from College committee's and the Associated Students of the College of Marin, the policy considered last night includes hiring an affirmative action officer for six months.

Mrs. Jones said the officer would set up the system for seeking women and minorities as applicants for district jobs and a committee would then be appointed to continue the policy.

The policy will be up for adoption when trustees meet April 17 at 7:30 p.m. in room 101 of the College of Marin science center.

Marin College District Board Also:

AUDIT — Appointed the firm of Sleezer and Exkhoff to do the district audit for 1973-74 at a fee not to exceed $6,900.

SECRETARY — Rescinded approval of a new secretarial job for preparing meeting agendas, handling correspondence and taking minutes. Trustees were criticized for not opening the position to applicants from existing staff and had asked for an opinion from county counsel on the legality of the appointment. The position will be reconsidered April 17 after an opinion from county counsel is received.

EVENING — Appointed Gloria Melbostad and Lincoln Lue as administrative assistants for evening college this spring.

LEAVES — Approved a new classification, leave for personal necessity, to conform district policies and procedures to the statewide education code.

PUBLICATION — Approved $5,500 for printing of 5,000 catalogs and 4,000 schedules for use next fall at Indian Valley Colleges.

BUSES — Asked that Golden Gate Transit change its point for north-south bus transfers from San Rafael to the college.

CAPITAL — Agreed that approval of expenditures in a $5,000 minor capital outlay budget could come from the district superintendent.

BIDS — Authorized calling for bids for an audit of nonteaching positions in the district to determine if persons holding those jobs are properly placed on salary scales.

BOOTH — Retained the architectural firm of Esherick, Homsey, Dodge and Davis to redesign the College of Marin ticket booth. No cost of the project was set.

COMMITTEE — Was asked by an ad hoc committee studying access routes at Indian Valley Colleges in Novato to persuade the county to do an engineering study to determine feasibility of providing access to the college by Rowland Boulevard, from the intersection of Indian Valley and Pacheco Ranch roads and 800 feet from that intersection.

Outdoor Garden Store Approved

Plans for an outdoor garden sales area at Goodman's Home Center, Seventh Street and Grant Avenue, were approved last night by the Novato Plan Review Committee.

The store plans to sell landscape materials and plants beneath an open trellis on the Grant Avenue side of the building.

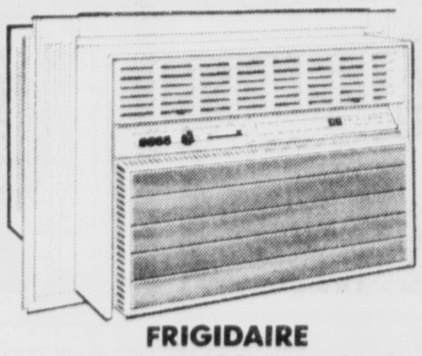

The committee also gave preliminary review to plans by Zahorenko Construction Co. for an office building at the northeast corner of San Marin and San Andreas drives.

Evidence Around Yablonski Home

MEDIA, Pa. (UPI) — Three state policemen testified today at the murder trial of W.A. (Tony) Boyle about finding evidence near the scene of the slayings of three members of the Joseph A. (Jock) Yablonski family.

They told of finding cut telephone wires and disabled cars, spent cartridges and film canisters taken from the Yablonski home.

Cpl. John Neil, a helicopter pilot, told of spotting the film cannisters from the air at Elko Hill in Washington county.

The cannisters had been taken from the Yablonski home by the killers in the belief they may have contained evidence against the leadership of the UMW.

Two men testified yesterday that they backed out of schemes to kill Yablonski, who ran against Boyle as a reform candidate in 1969, with explosives, poison or firebombs.

Yablonski, his wife and daughter were killed at their Clarksville, Pa., home by three hirelings on Dec. 31, 1969, three weeks after he lost a bitterly fought election to Boyle.

James C. Phillips, a convicted rapist from Cleveland, Ohio, who said he once conspired in the plot to kill Yablonski, testified under cross-examination that arsenic was considered, then burning of the Yablonski home, to do them in.

In direct testimony Phillips also said that on three occasions he was told by other suspects in the case that a man named (Tony) was behind the murder plot.

Phillips, now serving life imprisonment for raping a 4-year-old girl, said the firebombing was suggested because "you ain't getting out of it if it hits right."

Phillips also said Annette Gilly, another confessed Yablonski murders, even called a family physician to try and get a prescription for the poison.

Phillips said Vealey, his partner in a series of Cleveland area burglaries, contacted him in December, 1969, and then introduced him to Paul Gilly, Annette's husband. He said Gilly told him "he had a contract to kill a man and was I interested."

Phillips said he, Gilly and Vealey later went to Washington, D.C., searching for Yablonski.

Prosecutor Says Chapin Lied To The Watergate Grand Jury

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government charged today that Dwight L. Chapin was kept so well informed by a political saboteur that he had to be lying when he told the Watergate grand jury he knew little or nothing about political dirty tricks against Democrats in 1972.

Government prosecutor Richard Davis gave closing arguments in the four-day trial of Chapin, 33, former appointments secretary to President Nixon. Chapin is charged with three counts of lying to the Watergate grand jury when he said he was not fully aware of the activities of Donald Segretti.

Chapin hired Segretti to work for the Republicans to sabotage the campaigns of Democratic presidential hopefuls in 1972. After Davis' closing arguments, defense attorney Jacob Stein presented Chapin's side.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell prepared to instruct the jury of seven men and five woemn on how to treat the evidence injudging Chapin.

Stein said Segretti was "an independent operator" and Chapin was too busy working for Nixon on the President's China trip and other matters to be fully aware of Segretti's activities.

Stein said Chapin did not intentionally lie when he testified before the grand jury on April 11, 1973, that:

He never discussed with Segretti "the distribution of any campaign literature or statements of any kind." And when asked if he knew Segretti distributed any campaign literature, Chapin replied "not that I am familiar with."

"I told him to talk to the FBI" when Segretti said the bureau was looking for him.

Saying "not that I recall" when asked if he ever instructed Segretti to concentrate on any particular candidate among the Democratic hopefuls.

In his summation, Davis said testimony by Segretti and Chapin showed the following "pattern":

Chapin hired Segretti — with the approval of H.R. Haldeman, once Nixon's top aide — to "divide Democrats" with harassing tactics.

Chapin instructed Segretti to mail to him copies of any campaign literature he distributed, and Segretti did so.

Told Segretti to talk to former White House special counsel John W. Dean III when Segretti told him the FBI was looking for Segretti.

Told Segretti to concentrate on Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, then the Democratic front-runner.

Campaign Financing Debate To Continue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supporters of a bill to provide public financing of federal election campaigns failed today to cut off debate and bring the measure to a vote.

Bipartisan opponents, who class the proposal "a raid on the treasury," defeated a cloture motion which would have ended a filibuster against the bill.

The vote was 60 to 36 for cloture — four votes short of the two-thirds majority of those present and voting required to impose the Senate's rarely used gag rule.

Majority leader Mike Mansfield and 21 other bipartisan supporters of the bill filed the motion for cloture in face of at least 80 more amendments which senators, most of them opponents of public financing, planned to present.

The cloture vote on the much amended and debated bill which has been on the floor for three weeks is expected shortly after noon EDT.

In a major development yesterday the Senate voted, 48-42, for simultaneous poll closings across the country, ranging from 7 p.m. local time in California to 11 p.m. in the eastern time zone and voted by voice without dissent for all federal candidates to file a statement with the U.S. Comptroller General of all taxes he paid in the past calendar year.

The Senate also agreed by voice vote to an amendment exempting the Republican and Democratic House and Senate campaign committees from the $6,000 limitation organizations may make to candidates.

The bill would limit campaign donations to $3,000 in the case of individuals and $6,000 in the case of organizations, and would grant each candidate of a major party a campaign sum equivalent to 15 cents per eligible voter in his district, in federal, general elections.

The candidates would receive 10 cents per eligible voter in the federal primary elections, after qualifying by raising $10,000 in good faith or "threshold fund" contributions.

Only the first $100 of each contribution would qualify for the threshold fund.

Opponents say the bill would be a "raid on the Treasury." Supporters say it would end the influence of big private money and lobbying organizations in election campaigns.

LONDON (UPI) — Letters, manuscripts and other materials belonging to Irish author James Joyce brought $26,208 in a sale today at Christie's fine arts auction house.

A New York dealer, the House of Books, bought virtually all the collection for $19,200, a Christie's spokesman said.

Note About This Auction: Iran, the largest producer of handwoven carpets and rugs, has been a backward, slow-moving country for centuries. Suddenly with the advent of industry, oil and free education, it zoomed to the 20th Century. As a result children, 75% of rug weavers, are lured away from the ancient art of weaving. And in our opinion, in the next five years this great art will be so scarce and will be hard to find. European collectors and dealers are rushing to America and collect these carpets. We urge the residents of San Rafael to attend this fabulous auction.

Water District Sells Bonds For River Tie

The North Marin County Water District has sold $4.39 million in bonds to finance construction of an aqueduct from Cotati to the Russian River.

The bonds were sold Tuesday night to Crocker Bank at an interest rate of 5.9659 per cent, the lowest of four bids, according to Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson.

Sold were $3.1 million of the $4.1 million in bonds approved last June and $1.29 million authorized in 1960.

In February directors raised the water rates to meet the cost of paying off the bonds, increasing the rate for 100 cubic feet of water five cents in the first year and two cents a year fro the succeeding three years.

The funds will finance the district's share of a new pipeline with enlarged capacity for delivery of Russian River water.

The North Marin County Water District Board Also:

OLEMA PROJECT — Received word that the district is close to obtaining a $70,000 loan from the Department of Agriculture for 40 years at 5 per cent interest for acquisition, rehabilitation and improvements of the Olema Water System.

RAW WATER — Proposed raising the rate for raw water from Stafford Lake from $24 an acre foot to $46 an acre foot and scheduled a public hearing on the proposed hike May 7 at 8 p.m. at the district office, Novato. Nelson said the untreated water is used by the Indian Valley Golf Club and Marin County for irrigation at Stafford Lake Park.

WATER BOND — Unanimously endorsed the state's $250 million clean water bond measure which will be on the June 4 ballot.

WATER CONTROL — Opposed bills by Assemblyman Ken MacDonald, D-Ventura, and Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter, which Nelson said would reduce the authority of the State Water Resources Control Board.

EARTHQUAKE EXERCISES — Received notice that the Marin County Office of Emergency Services will have an earthquake exercise involving simulated failure of Stafford Lake Dam on May 10.

SLUDGE DEMONSTRATION — Approved applying for a federal grant for a demonstration project to use sludge from the district's treatment plant in the Novato Sanitary District's treatment process to determine if it improves settlement.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. April 16 at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station, for a public hearing on an amended environmental impact report on the sewer treatment plant for the coast guard station at Point Reyes Station.

Agricultural Fuel Problem Still Not Over

BERKELEY (UPI) — Agricultural producers still face fuel-related problems, Allan Grant, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, said yesterday.

Although agriculture has been granted 100 per cent of its fuel needs, it does not apply to retail purchases at service stations, he said.

As a result some smaller fuel users, such as poultry, dairy, livestock and nurserymen, find themselves "caught in the middle with too small a demand for bulk storage, but with demands in excess of the normal fuel user."

Barrels Of Oil Climb Last Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Petroleum Institute said yesterday U.S. refineries received 294,000 more barrels of oil per day last week than the week before.

In its weekly statistical bulletin the API also said production of gasoline rose 89,000 barrels a day and production of fuel oil increased 167,000 barrels per day. Gasoline production for the week, which ended March 29, was off slightly from the same week last year, however.

15 Per Cent Pay Hike Is Being Asked

Cotati-Rohnert Park School District teachers have requested a 15 per cent across-the-board pay increase for the coming school year.

Schools Supt. James H. Davidson said the association of Cotati district teachers also asked the school board on Tuesday for a fringe benefit package which includes two more days of sick leave a year, a district policy on teacher transfers, and group life insurance, health insurance and prescription plans paid for by the school district.

Davidson said the teachers organization requested that the present district dental care plan, which only covers teachers, be extended to cover their dependents as well.

Teacher association representatives attributed the 15 per cent request to the rapid rise of the cost-of-living index during the last year.

Teacher salaries in the district now range from $7,891 for new graduates to $16,478 for a teacher with 27 years of service. Those who hold master's degrees receive an additional $400 a year, Davidson said.

District psychologist Adam Wolf told the school board that local students scored above the state average on tests of reading and language and mathematical skills administered reach year under California law.

Barge Sinks; 30 Reported Drowned

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — At least 30 persons were reported drowned yesterday when a barge carrying 79 passengers and one crewman sank in the Parnaiba River in the northeastern Brazilian state of Piaui, reports reaching here said.

Street Work Permit Is Being Asked

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The City of Larkspur has applied to the Army Corps of Engineers for a permit for street improvements along 3,800 feet of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard east of Highway 101.

The project will widen the roadway and provide access to the Larkspur Ferry Terminal. It will also provide a bicycle path and sidewalk along the shoreline.

The city also has submitted an application to the California Regional Water Quality Control Board and to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The project probably will not require preparation of an environmental impact report, according to the corps.

Persons wishing to object to the granting of the permit should do so in writing to 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco, Calif., 94102, before May 2, the corps announced.

SIC TRANSIT CAP'N DUMMIE

The good ship Madrone One, manned (if that's the word) by Cap'n Dummie gets its first taste of the brackish deep (left photo) as it is launched in Marin Civic Center's lagoon. Then, with Madrone Continuation High School student Leo Monterio acting as the power plant it makes a brave crossing of the water. The happening yesterday was intended to bring together the various activities of stufents of the alternative school in the San Rafael High School District: the wood shop, whose carpenters built the boat; arts and crafts, whose artists and designers created and clothed the captain; video and audio, whose practitioners recorded the event on film and tape for later presentation.

10-Year-Old Cotati Girl Dies Of Auto Crash Injuries

Karen Munger, 10, of Cotati died yesterday of injuries suffered in a head-on collision Tuesday on old Redwood Highway in Santa Rosa.

The little girl was hospitalized with head injuries after her mother's car was struck head-on by a truck driven by Michael J. Tarap, 19, of Napa, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Josephine G. Munger, 45, was southbound on the highway about 8:25 a.m. when the Tarap vehicle crossed the center line and crashed into her car.

Mrs. Munger was hospitalized for multiple cuts, but released yesterday.

Another passenger in her car, Julie Kelly, 12, of Cotati, was reported in poor condition today at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital with head injuries received in the crash.

Tarap received minor injuries, as did two other children in the Munger car, the highway patrol reported.

Funeral arrangements for Karen were pending today at the Reilly Co. in San Francisco.

Aviation Panel Endorses Commuter Airline Service

The Marin County Aviation Commission has recommended that county supervisors endorse a new commuter airline service to operate out of Gnoss Field.

An application for the proposed service has been submitted to the Public Utilities Commission by Richard Duste of Marin Aviation.

He said today the application will probably be considered by a PUC hearing officer next month. The new service would link Marin with various parts of the state.

In recommending endorsement, the aviation commission also urged the board of supervisors to send a representative to the PUC hearing to add weight to Duste's application.

Francis E. Torr, Gnoss Field airport manager, said a similar recommendation was given Stol Air a year ago by the commission.

Stol Air, which currently offers a limited commute service out of Gnoss Field, has protested the county becoming involved in Duste's proposal. He told supervisors earlier this year that the commute market is not large enough to support two commute airlines.

Coalition Picks New Executive

Mary St. Georges of Ross has been appointed executive director of Marin Coalition, a nonpartisan political action organization with the announced aim of maintaining a balance between Marin's environment and economy.

Mrs. St. Georges succeeds Andrea Boggs of San Rafael who has resigned to take a position as a television news reporter with KLAS TV in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Prior to moving to Marin, Mrs. St. Georges worked in property management in Chicago.

She is married to Laurent M. St. Georges, and they have two children, Joseph and Catherine.

Marin Coalition offices are at 813 D Street in San Rafael.

THE WEATHER OUTLOOK

Residents of Marin and Southern Sonoma can look forward to higher than normal temperatures and lower than normal precipitation during April, according to the forecast of the National Weather Service. Last April, also a dry one, there was only one day on which rain fell. That was April 13, when .16 inches was reported. The highest temperature during the month was 84 on April 4 and the lowest was 37 on April 18.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

$4 Million Vetoed In Vets Fund Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — All but $1 million of a $5 million bill providing salary funds for unemployed Vietnam veterans was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday before he signed it into law.

The governor said in his veto message that the remaining $1 million "should be adequate to demonstrate the effectiveness" of the employment training program.

The legislation AB276 by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, will reimburse private employers for half the cost of employment programs for up to a year and a half.

Reagan said more money could be made available in the future if it is determined that the program promotes meaningful job opportunities.

He vetoed a similar bill in its entirety last year.

LANGUAGE TIFF

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate approved a resolution yesterday proclaiming May 5 thorugh May 11 "Mexican-American Week" but an identical version written in Spanish was sidetracked.

The English version ACR204 by Assemblyman Richard Alatorre, D-Los Angeles, was approved by a unanimous 23-0 vote.

But Sen. Clark Bradley, R-San Jose, objected when the Spanish version ACR205 was brought up for consideration following the first vote.

"If's unconstitutional," Bradley declared. "There is a requirement that we conduct the business of this body in the English language and this is not the English language."

Bradley tried to strike the measure from the agenda but Sen. Alfred Song, D-Monterey Park, guided it into the Rules Committee where it will appearently died.

Both versions carried the names of every assemblyman and senator as co-authors, Bradley included.

POLLUTION PRIZE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California legislator who tried to ban internal combustion engines proposed yesterday that a $25 million prize be awarded for the invention of an engine that doesn't pollute at all.

"Rubber bands. Anything. I find it downright subversive that everyone has abdicated their thinking to the auto industry itself," said Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland.

In 1970, Petris introduced a bill to outlaw the sale of vehicles with internal combustion engines. He concedes that such extreme measures don't go far legislatively. But he says they help advance thinking on the future of pollution and energy problems.

AGING NOMINEE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's nomination of Dr. J.M. Stubblebine to head the California Commission on Aging has been held up by the state Senate Rules Committee.

The five man committee refused unanimously yesterday to send Stubblebine's name to the full Senate for confirmation.

They instead took it under submission, meaning Senate confirmation could be indefinitely delayed.

San Diego Democrat James Mills, chairman of the committee, said members felt Stubblebine, former head of the state Department of Health, didn't meet the legal requirements to head the commission. The rules require someone trained and experienced in the field of aging, Mills said.

"I don't think this will be the final disposition. I think he will come up for a vote and will not be confirmed," Mills added in an interview.

The statement was made as Biaggi introduced legislation to restore the death penalty for certain crimes, including killing a policeman. He said he was outraged that the number of police officers killed in the line of duty rose 200 per cent in the past 10 years and no one had been executed for killing a policeman in more than six years.

San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Compressed Air Leaks Waste Fuel

WAKE FOREST, N.C. (AP) — The amount of fuel used to produce compressed air that is wasted by industry would heat a community of some 200,000 persons for a year, according to a survey made here.

"About 10 per cent of the compressed air used by 1.2 million industrial and service establishments in the United States is being lost, according to our plant surveys," says Donald Sicklesteel, vice president of Scovill's Fluid Power Division, a maker of air control equipment. "This translates into annual preventable fuel wastage of about 100 million gallons of oil, of 500,000 tons of coal, or 15 billion cubic feet of natural gas. The dollar value is about $30 million."

Acupuncture Call

TORONTO (AP) — Acupuncture should be a priority item in Canadian medical research, Dr. Gustave Gingras, president of the Canadian Medical Assn., said recently. The Montreal physician said major research and controlled clinical trials should be conducted with this Chinese method of anesthetizing patients by manipulating needles in various nerves.

Japanese Army Straggler Home

TOKYO (UPI) — Hiroo Onoda, the World War II Japanese army straggler, is home today for the first time in 30 years.

As his train passed Mount Fuji, Japan's best-known landmark, the 52-year-old former second lieutenant said the peak looked better in a picture.

"The top was covered with too much snow today," he said.

Onoda was flown to Tokyo from Manila March 12 after holding out in the jungles of Lubang Island in the Philippines for 29 years. He entered Tokyo's First National Hospital for a medical checkup and was released Saturday.

Rawles Resigned Mosquito Seat

The Independent-Journal erred Tuesday in reporting that Paul Di Pietro "lost his (Marin Mosquito Abatement District) board seat when the San Rafael City Council appointed Norris M. Rawles" to the post.

Di Pietro resigned from the district board last December. The city council appointed Rawles to fill the vacancy in February.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Loss Of Consciousness Caused By Many Different Happenings

Loss of consciousness varies from temporary fainting to stupor and coma. An individual who is comatose cannot be roused even by the most powerful and painful external stimuli.

There are many causes, but it helps to know the individual's health status and the circumstances under which he collapsed.

Has he had heart trouble, high blood pressure, a recent head injury, diabetes, epilepsy, a brain disorder, or too much alcohol? Does he have a psychiatric problem or is he suicidal? Witnesses or relatives must provide this information for obvious reasons. In such emergencies, the physician wishes that the victim wore a Medic-Alert tag or bracelet.

ODDLY, THE circumstances under which the patient is discovered may be important or misleading. A man or woman found unconscious in the street with a head injury may have been knocked down or may have fallen down as a result of a stroke.

Alcohol on the breath does not necessarily mean that the coma is due to booze. Alcoholics are frequently subject to head injury and are not immune to other causes of coma.

One woman was found unconscious in her bedroom with a half-empty bottle of aspirin at her bedside. She had an acute form of meningitis and probably took some aspirin to relieve the headache that preceded the brain infection. Doctors have learned through experience not to rely entirely on circumstantial evidence. They know that a careful examination must be done with attention to details.

PSYCHOLOGICAL COMA is not common, although there are several reports of people pretending to be unconscious. It is used by some as an escape from an intolerable situation.

Those people do not respond ot painful stimuli even though they are breathing quietly and have noral reflexes. Other signs that indicate feigned coma are spontaneous flickering of the eyelids and a resistance to any attempt to passively open the eyes.

Inability to rouse the victim worries every person involved, and relatives prefer to believe that the individual has had a fit or stroke rather than a severe emotional upset.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen. c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

IRREGULAR PERIODS

S. E. writes: Are hormones needed for irregular periods?

REPLY

There are varied causes of this condition. Hormones are not necessary in teen-age girls because, at this age, it is normal to be irregular. The same applies during the menopause, especially when irregularity is the only manifestation. Between these two extremes, the need for hormones must be judged on an individual bases.

KILLS CORNS

Mrs. T. writes: Is there any kind of drug to kill corns?

REPLY

They are killed with kindness —to the feet. Corns develop over pressure points and disappear when the cause is removed. Several chemicals have been recommended form time to time but the results are temporary while pressure remains. Most of these are caustics.

AFTER DRINKING

A reader writes: After six or seven highballs my ankles swell. They are normal the next morning. Would you know why?

REPLY

Drinking too much and sitting too long with the legs in a dependent position. Bloating often follows overindulgence. Swelling of the legs is not a common symptom of cirrhosis of the liver, but it does occur. I assume your heart is normal and you do not have a circulation problem of the legs.

SIGNS OF CHANGE

W. writes: Does a woman who is going through the change of life have a particular look about her that people can see?

REPLY

No, except the temporary flush and beads of perspiration that develop during the hot flash. But this sign is none too reliable because hot flashes develop in men and also in women who are not in the menopause.

IT DIDN'T TAKE

Mrs. E. C. writes: My 5-year-old son was vaccinated for smallpox twice with no scar formation. Does this mean the shots didn't take?

REPLY

Yes. He may be immune or the vaccine was old or inactivated.

CAMOMILE TEA

J. H. writes: What is the medical use for camomile (flowers) tea? Is it any good for a kidney infection and rheumatoid arthritis?

REPLY

No — it does nothing for either condition.

SKIN INFECTION

L. B. writes: Is a boil an infection from within or without?

REPLY

From without — an infected hair follicle.

ENGLISH OR LATIN?

R.E.P. writes: Do doctors write prescriptions in English or Latin?

REPLY

English, except a few of the older physicians who remember their Latin.

New Hampshire Houses Approve Death Peanlty

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — The state Legislature voted Tuesday night to restore the death penalty in New Hampshire for murder of policemen, murder for hire and murder in connection with kidnaping.

Republican Gov. Mledrim Thomson, a strong advocate of capital punishment, was expected to sign the measure into law to make New Hampshire the 24th state to restore the death penalty in some form since the U.S. Supreme Court ruling on the issue more than a year ago.

Final approval came on a 14-to-9 senate vote, and an overwhelming standing vote in the House where there was no opposition debate.

'Mr. Roberts' Televised Without One Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — A two-hour television rarity occurred a few nights ago here when WOR-TV aired "Mr. Roberts." The award-winning 1955 movie, in which Jack Lemmon won his first Oscar, as best supporting actor, wasn't interrupted once by commercials or station breaks.

It wasn't that the station lacked a sponsor for the show. There was one, Bounty Paper Towels, but it only ran two commercials — one just before the movie began and the other right after the show ended.

This admirable policy was unsettling. One waited in vain for the commercial ax to fall. Station identification, required by law, was equally discreet. It flashed on the screen, but the movie never halted.

It turns out Bounty has been doing this sort of thing at WOR for the last three years, according to station officials. Alas, it only happens one night every three months.

Still, it has enabled viewers to see, without commercial breaks, movie classics ranging from "On the Waterfront" to the first show in WOR's no-commercial-break series, Lord Laurence Oliverier's "Hamlet."

The uninterrupted movies currently began late Saturday or Sunday night at 10:30, near the end of the prime time viewing period here.

JACK LEMMON
Oscar winner

WOR's non-stop concept, practiced in major markets about as often as PH.D.'s are given the Three Stooges, came at a time Bounty's ad agency was planning ways to introduce the then-new product in New York.

Ave Butensky, an official at the ad agency, Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, said his company was trying to reach the kind of audience that rarely watches television and lure these selective citizens with something new.

The agency learned that WOR had Oliver's "Hamlet," he said, "and we thought that'd be a good movie to run because there are certain people who'd watch that, but not the usual kind of fare."

However, he added, it felt that it kept running in commercial breaks, the movie "wouldn't really draw. We had to do something new.

"So we worked out a package arrangement with channel nine (WOR) where we got a package of spots in other areas, but we kept the movie 'clean.'"

By this he meant the commercials that normally would run during the movie were put in other WOR shows over a two or three-month period.

Butensky, who declined to say how much this advertising approach cost, said the results on the first go-around were an ad man's delight.

"We got tons of mail and about 75 per cent of the letters mentioned the product," said. "So we thought we were right on target and decided to continue the movies."

He said he doubts such an approach would work on a network basis because the cost would be prohibitive, and it'd be difficult to book the required time on a national basis.

Rules To Allow Water Sports And Tidelands Hunting Eyed

New regulations permitting hunting, and water sports in Tomales Bay tidelands will be considered by the State Fish and Game Commission at a public hearing tomorrow in Sacramento.

The proposals were drawn up by the commission staff after Marin sportsmen obtained a temporary lifting of the hunting ban last year.

The proposals would permit shooting of waterfowl in season, in the area which is classified as an ecological reserve, boating and swimming. All three uses are forbidden in ecological reserves in basic regulations of the fish and game department.

In addition, the staff has recommended that all land area of the reserve, except for a dike at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, closed to the public annually from March 1 through June 30.

The reserve is 482 acres of tidelands at the southern end of Tomales Bay. It was purchased by the State Wildlife Conservation board in 1972 from Waldo Giacomini.

The sale followed a controversy over Giacomini's plans to dike the marshes and use them as cattle pastures.

Spokesmen for the Marin Rod and Gun Club and the Tomales Bay Sportsmen Association said their directors support the new recreational uses.

Most conservationist organizations, while indicating no enthusiasm for the hunting permission, said they will ask for study and review of its effect on permanent wildlife population or on other recreation uses if the commission approves it. They have no objection to boating or swimming in the reserve.

Taking this position were spokesmen for the Marin Conservation League, Sierra Club, Environmental Action Committee of West Marin and Inverness Association.

An exception was the Point Reyes Bird Observatory.

If approved by the commission, it would be a precedent which could "make the whole idea of an ecological reserve meaningless," he declared.

Survey Shows More Believing In Devil

NEW YORK (AP) — Amid the unsettling aspects of modern times, a new study shows an increasing proportion of Americans are positively certain of the existence of the devil. Most of them regard present-day conditions as threatening, and likely to get worse.

These are among previously unpublished findings of national survey data gathered by the Center for Policy Research, an independently funded agency which studies social trends.

The results show the proportion of the United States population completely convinced the devil exists has risen in nine years from 37 to 48 per cent, with another 20 per cent considering his existence probable.

The figures were gathered a year ago, preceding the recent hubbub over demonology induced by the movie "The Exorcist."

Dr. Clyde Z. Nunn, the center's senior research associate, attributes the increased belief in the devil to a mood of "uncertainty and stress, when things seem to be falling apart and resources seem limited for coping with it."

He says that people, trying to make sense of the world in such circumstances, tend to "look for scapegoats" such as the devil.

"It's precisely the sort of climate that could lead to some rising demagogue, exploiting the sense of evil in the world and promising to drive out the devil's agents or to some new round of witch hunting," Nunn said in an interview.

The study — results of which are to be published in a forthcoming book — involved a selected cross-section of 3,546 persons.

Nunn, 39, a specialist in the sociology of religion, said the study for the first time provided comparative data on the intensity of belief in the supernatural.

While certainty of the devil's existence was up 11 per cent over the similar 1964 survey, the certainty of God's existence was down 8 per cent, dropping from 77 to 69 per cent, although most others believe in God but with some doubt.

Six per cent definitely do not believe in God or don't know — double the 3 per cent disbelieving nine years before.

Although certainty about God has declined, certainty about the devil shows an "unusual spurt" upward, Nunn pointed out.

He said the shifting focus on the devil apparently indicated a feeling among people that events seem without reason or good purpose, and that the balance of good versus evil had "tipped in the direction of evil."

Moreover, expectations that conditions are going to get worse are much higher — 60 per cent — among those certain of the devil than among those discounting his existence. Only 23 per cent of the latter group felt worse times are ahead.

Those certain of the devil also are much more likely than others to feel that various forces in modern society are seriously threatening, including communism, crime, high prices and radicals.

Four Bills Introduced By Bagley

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO -- Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, today introduced a package of four bills asked by the governor to prohibit passage of spending bills without assuring their cost can be met.

One requires that any bill with more than $1 million in state cost must include either a new tax, a spending cut to cover the new expense, or a statement that it can be funded from present revenues.

Another requires that the annual budget bill cannot propose expenditures in excess of available state resources without a companion bill providing additional revenues to balance the budget.

A third requires that all fiscal measures contain an analysis of the program by the legislative analyst, and that if a tax increase is required to fund a bill a statement so declaring must be printed at the top of the bill.

The last requires the legislative analyst to detail the long-range costs of fiscal bills.

Bagley said the bills "would provide California with built-in fiscal responsibility for years to come." The measures, he said, say that "if you want to spend more than the state's present income, you must increase the state's income — to me, that is simply good sense."

Arrests For Drunken Driving Rise

March arrests for drunk driving in Marin increased by 60 in February for a total of 261, according to statistics reported by the Alcohol Information Committee. The total is identical to December the highest month of last year.

Of the 229 male and 32 female drivers arrested in March, 12 were under 21 and 95 were between 21 and 30. Other age groupings: 60 in the 40s, 53 in the 30s and 41 over 50.

Additionally, 38 persons were booked for being drunk in public and four for being drunk in or about a motor vehicle.

Apprehending agencies were: California Highway Patrol, 157; sheriff's department, 31; Novato Police Department, 18; San Rafael and Sausalito, each 14; San Anselmo, 10; Larkspur, eight; Fairfax, four; Mill Valley, three; Corte Madera, two.

Again in March, Ross reported no drunk driving arrests, nor did Belvedere and Tiburon, where three were booked during February.

Toyota named "1974 Pickup Truck of the Year"

"After careful consideration and testing of all the pickup trucks offered for sale in this country, it is the unanimous opinion of the staff of Pickup, Van & 4-Wheel Drive Magazine (from the publishers of Road & Track) that the Toyota Hi-Lux is the Pickup Truck of the Year for 1974."

Longer Bed.

"The longer pickup bed [increased from 70.2 in. to 86.0 in.] offered all sorts of practical possibilities to increase the vehicle's utility. It made a better base for a camper. Or it would haul more motorcycles. Or more bulky gear of any type."

Greater Performance.

"The Hi-Lux has the largest [piston] engine of all, offering a full 2-liter engine with more horsepower and consequently greater performance than any of the others."

New World's Record. The two Toyota trucks conquered torturous rocky terrain, desert scrub, dry lakebeds, deep silt, salt bush and dusty rutted mud flats to set a new record for off-pavement travel.

Comfortable

"The additional inches in the cab area [4 in. more legroom] made it possible for an oversized American driver to be comfortable even during long periods behind the wheel."

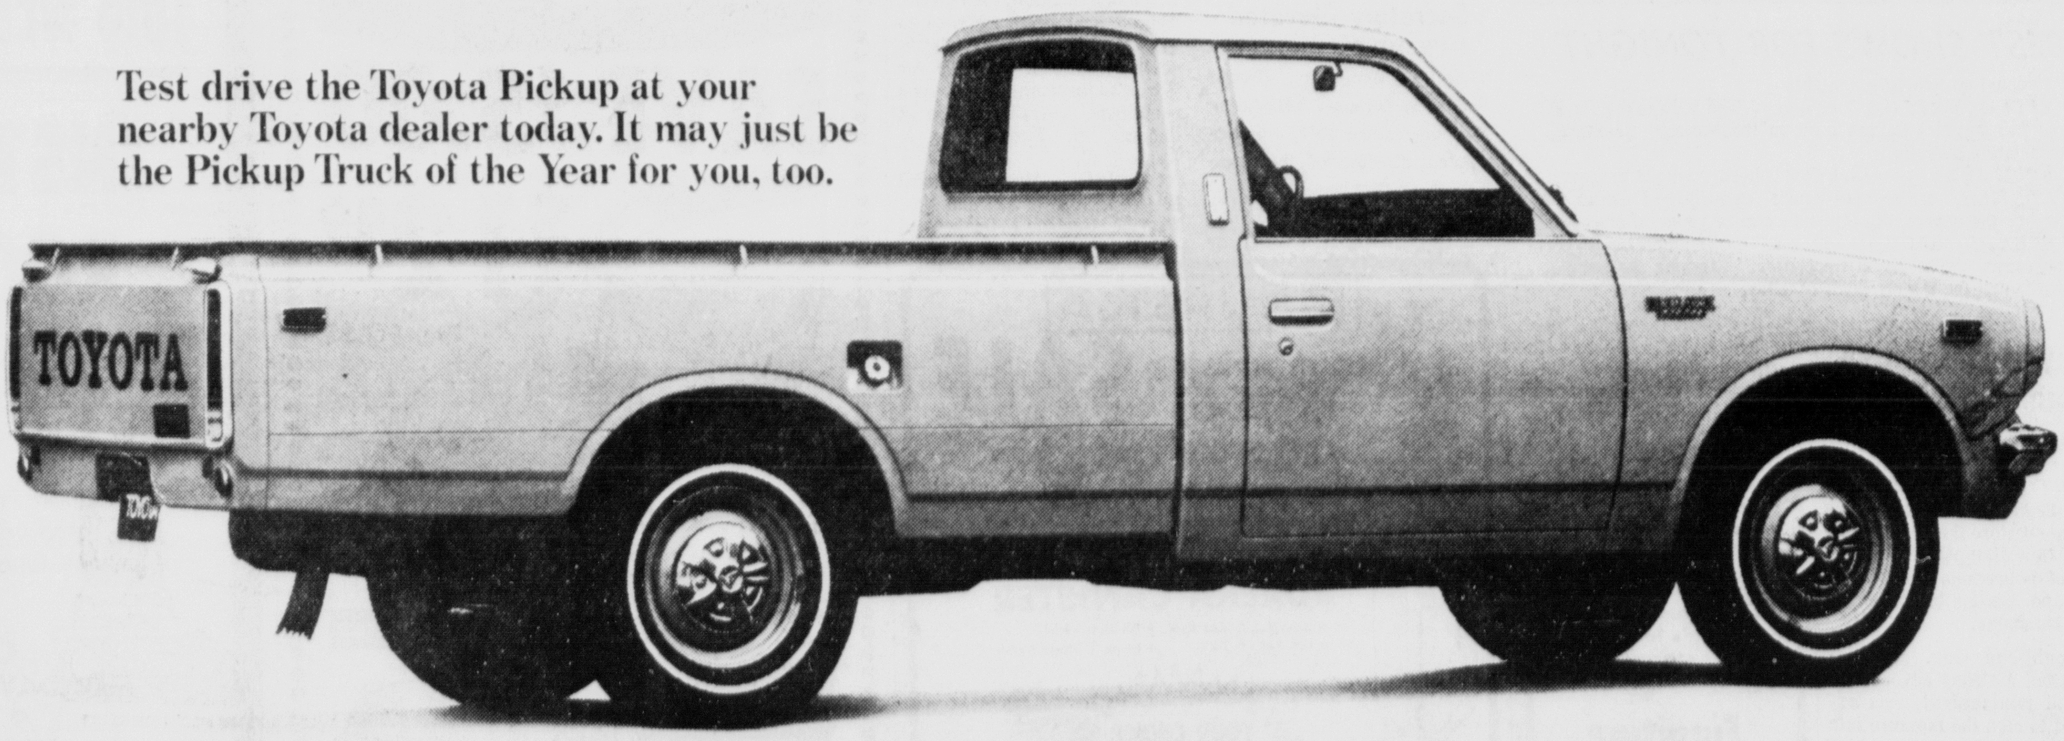

24-hour/979.8-mile endurance test.

"After we'd used a Hi-Lux to establish a new world's record for off-pavement travel we had no doubt that it had to be the Pickup Truck of the Year for 1974."

Summing up.

"We like its looks, we like its performance, we like its comfortable driving position. We also like its air of efficient ability, its compact size and its modest thirst for fuel."

Test drive the Toyota Pickup at your nearby Toyota dealer today. It may just be the Pickup Truck of the Year for you, too.

Giant Boosters: True Die-Hards

The members of the San Francisco Giants Boosters Club of Northern California, those baseball die-hards who follow their favorite team all over the world, are back home today, away from that burning Arizona sun.

What a way to get away from all that Bay Area rain! You can tell who the boosters are. They're the ones with that suntan they got during their stay in Phoenix to watch the Giants at spring training.

"It was our largest and most successful of all our spring training trips," said Allan B. Murray of Kentfield, organizer and president of the boosters. It was the seventh annual jaunt from the Bay Area to Phoenix for his band which totaled 241, split between two groups. Some saw the early stages of the spring exhibition season and some witnessed the later games. There were still 106 boosters in town for the final two games in Phoenix against the Los Angeles Dodgers who were stopping off on their way from Florida to L.A.

MURRAY SAID the three main reasons why it was the best trip were the outstanding weather, a tour to Grand Canyon, and the relationship between the players and the boosters. They stay at the team headquarters at Caravan Inn and mingle with the players.

"But we are not a rah-rah group which bugs the players," said Murray. There's an occasional picture or two or a few autographs. Murray sees that it doesn't get out of hand.

Among the charter members of the boosters on their latest trip were Warren Williams, ex-San Rafael postmaster, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Albert DiGrazia of Tiburon and Mrs. Letha Jenkins of Fairfax, Murray's teacher quite a few semesters ago at Ross Grammar School.

ALTHOUGH MOST of the boosters are fairly well up in age, the Joseph Soldavini family of San Anselmo provides the youth. In Phoenix for some of the last games were four Soldavini children, Joey, 10, Stephen, 11, Gigi, 15, and Debbie, 16. There was some collecting of autographs by this quartet, believe me.

Murray is planning to have a series of booster dinners at Rocca's in San Francisco on Saturday nights when the Giants are home. The first one is Saturday after the second game of the season, with special guest, the man who pitches tomorrow's 12:15 p.m. opener, Tom Bradley. His father has come from home in Falls Church, Va. to watch him pitch and will be at the dinner, along with Karl Malden, star of TV's "Streets of San Francisco."

Murray has already made plans to honor new Giants' catcher John Boccabella of Terra Linda and that special all-Italian dinner will be April 27. There will be a busload of Marin County fans for that event.

THE BOOSTERS will be making seven road trips this season. The first one will be to San Diego on Easter weekend, April 12-14. Then there will be trips to Los Angeles April 19-21, Atlanta and Cincinnati May 9-16, L.A. and San Diego June 21-27, New York, Montreal and Cooperstown Hall of Fame July 4-13, Chicago, Philadelphia and St. Louis Aug. 8-18, and a final trip to Los Angeles Sept. 2-4. These fans really get around.

Murray's group is the largest booster organization in baseball and it just keeps growing. It now totals more than 3,000 members and he's always taking in new blood. His mailing address is P.O. Box 570 in San Rafael. It's never too late to join, he says.

Play Ball! 2 Games On Opening Day

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Play ball!

With those two little words, baseball gets rolling on a new season today — and really moves into high gear this weekend.

After ceremonious Opening Day specials matching the World Champion Oakland A's against the Texas Rangers and the Atlanta Braves with the Cincinnati Reds, the major leagues will start swinging harder.

SEVEN GAMES

Seven games are scheduled tomorrow and a full slate of 12 for Saturday.

The Braves and Reds, who kicked off the National League season today in Cincinnati, and the A's and Rangers, who trigger the American League season tonight in Texas, will have the day off tomorrow, when three games will be played in the National League and four in the American.

In the National, Jerry Ruess has been named to pitch Pittsburgh's first game against St. Louis' Bob Gibson; Steve Arlin of San Diego will face Don Sutton of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Dave Roberts is Houston's choice against San Francisco's Tom Bradley.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

In the American, Detroit's Mickey Lolich goes against Baltimore's Cy Young winner Jim Palmer; Luis Tiant of Boston faces Jim Colburn of Milwaukee; California's Nolan Ryan takes on Chicago's Wilbur Wood and Bert Blyleven of Minnesota matches serves with Kansas City's Paul Splittorf.

The New York Mets, the National League's defending champions, wait until Saturday to start their season. Tehir game with Philadelphia pairs two Cy Young winners — Tom Seaver of the Mets and Steve Carlton of the Phillies.

The A's, who beat the Mets in last year's World Series, four games to three, will throw ace Jim "Catfish" Hunter against Texas' Jim Bibby tonight. Bibby pitched a no-hitter against Oakland last season.

NEW OWNERS

The Rangers will be operating with a new set of owners. Bob Short sold 90 per cent of the team for $10 million to a syndicate headed by industrialist Brad Corbett.

In yesterday's exhibition games, the Chicago White Sox beat Pittsburgh 3-1; St. Louis trimmed Kansas City 7-5; Boston nipped Montreal 4-3; Minnesota ripped Philadelphia 13-7; the Chicago Cubs stopped the Cleveland Indians 3-1; the Los Angeles Dodgers tripped Oakland 4-0; the New York Yankees turned back the New York Mets 4-1; the Houston Astros tripped the Detroit Tigers 6-3; the San Diego Padres routed the San Diego State College team 11-0 and the California Angels beat the University of California-Riverside 5-2.

AN UNUSUAL FORM OF BASKETBALL

Basketball reflected a different perspective yesterday in Larkspur. The Redwood High School faculty and alumni played the Lettermen Club and Girls Athletic Association — on donkeys. Student Pete Massoletti (left) hung on for dear life, while massive football coach Phil Roark seemed to be enjoying a ride on his weighted-down animal. The faculty and alumni prevailed, 32-16, in the benefit game. Some $200 was raised for the Letterman Club.

Giants, Astros Open Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants and Houston Astros, challengers to defending champion Cincinnati in baseball's hardest-hitting division, meet tomorrow at 12:15 p.m. in a National League season opener.

San Francisco will field one of the major leagues' youngest teams, with slugging first baseman Willie McCovey and veteran pitcher Juan Marichal dealt away during the off-season. Second baseman Tito Fuentes, 30, is the oldest of the "Young Giants," as they're billed.

The Giants had a .262 team batting average last season to rank third in the league. Houston, led by Cesar Cedeno's .320, had a .251 team mark.

But both teams were among the lowly in pitching statistics, the Giants with a 3.79 earned run average, the Astros' 3.75.

San Francisco finished third, 11 games behind Cincinnati, and Houston fourth, 17 games back in the Western Division.

The Giants' starting pitcher will be Tom Bradley, 13-12 last year, against Houston's Dave Roberts, 17-11.

The Giants' Ron Bryant won 24 games last year to lead National League pitchers, but is recovering froma spring training swimming pool accident and won't be available until at least April 16. Manager Charlie Fox planned to use Bryant in the opener.

"It will be my first opening day start. It's a thrill, all right," said Bradley.

Bryant stayed in Arizona to work out with the Giants' minor league players. In last year's Giant opener, he beat the San Diego Padres 2-1 and the loser was Mike Caldwell, now a Giant.

Caldwell was acquired from the Padres in the McCovey trade and will face Houston's Tom Griffin in Saturday's Bat Day game.

Other new Giants include Ken Rudolph, the former Chicago Cubs player who will catch Bradley tomorrow and backup catcher John Boccabella.

Houston also has a new catcher, former Pittsburgh Pirate Milt May. Claude Osteen, 16-11 with Los Angeles last year, had joined the Astros and will pitch against Jim Barr on Sunday.

Orange Balls For New Baseball Loop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sean M. Downey Jr. has this big box of orange baseballs and the title of president of the World Baseball Association (WBA).

All he needs to assure that the WBA will begin playing on schedule next January is teams in 32 cities from the U.S. East Coast to Taiwan —and players to swing bats and catch balls.

"Instead of saying 'here comes the old apple,' they'll be saying 'here comes the old orange,'" Downey said, almost with a straight face, during a news conference called yesterday to announce formation of the WBA.

Anyway, Downey said six cities have already at least $150,000 for franchises. "But that's only the minimum. Some have, and will, pay more. The price is subject to supply and demand, just like oil."

Downey doesn't have a single ballplayer yet but he says, "More than 70 established major leaguers have been in contact with us, including six from the (World Champion) Oakland Athletics."

"If we get a commissioner, I would like it to be Dick Williams. He has expressed interest in it and I will be meeting with him in Florida next weekend."

If all goes as Downey promises it will, the WBA will be a workman's paradise. Competitive salaries, a schedule only about half as long as the American and National Leagues play, five designated hitters per team, a designated runner, three balls for a walk instead of four, no pitching to the batter who is to be intentionally walked and two runs on the scoreboard for a safe steal of home after the sixth inning.

And after three years a player could veto a trade and if traded "receive 15 per cent of the value of the trade."

Cities he said had already secured franchises are Birmingham, Ala., Memphis, Columbus, Ohio, Mexico City, Jersey City, N.J., and Tampa-St. Petersburg, Fla. He said Washington will have a team even if the WBA has to operate it itself.

He said league attorneys "are talking to the State Department about putting two teams in Cuba. That situation should be resolved soon."

Lawwill Heads Cycle Field

Mert Lawwill of Tiburon, who is off to a fast start in the young motorcycle racing season, will head a 100-rider field in the American Motorcycle Association's first outdoor race in Northern California Sunday.

Racing starts at 2 p.m. at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds. Gates open at 11 a.m. A 21-race card is planned.

Lawwill finished second twice in races in Southern California over the weekend — the Cal Rayborn Memorial at Chula Vista Saturday and the Tourist Trophy in Gardena Sunday.

NBA PLAYOFFS

Havlicek Does Not Show Age

BOSTON (UPI) — John Havlicek, who will be 34 five days hence, showed no signs of age as the Boston Celtics grabbed a 2-1 lead in their Eastern Division playoffs with the Buffalo Braves.

Havlicek, who didn't play quite up to par during the first two games, scored 43 points last night as the Celtics downed the Braves 120-107. It was the only playoff action in the National Basketball Association. In the only game tonight, the Milwaukee Bucks, leading 2-1, meet the Los Angeles Lakers in Los Angeles.

The fourth game in the best-of-seven Celts-Braves series will be played Saturday afternoon before a national television audience in Buffalo.

Havlicek, with 12 rebounds and eight assists to his point total, said, "I felt that in order to come up to playoff standards I would have to come up with a good game."

Though Havlicek stole the show, superb performances were put on by Dave Cowens (23 points), Don Chaney (18) and Paul Silas (12).

Redwood Pitcher Anderson Is Sharp

Combining strong pitching with powerful hitting, Redwood High School's baseball team opened defense of its Marin County Athletic League championship with a 7-1 victory over San Rafael yesterday in Larkspur.

Redwood's Ed Anderson pitched six innings without giving up an earned run, while striking out nine and walking only four. Anderson fanned seven in the first three innings alone.

Redwood clinched the verdict in the third inning with three runs, when Bob Long scored on a Phil Bacigalupi grounder and Gary Latorre and Gene Frey scored on a Mike Tessin single.

Casa Grande's Opener Spoiled By El Molino '9'

Casa Grande High School finally opened its Sonoma County League baseball season yesterday, and the Gauchos probably wish they hadn't.

Reliever Mike Zaccagna's wild pitch in the ninth inning allowed two runs to score, giving visiting El Molino (Forestville) a 6-4 victory.

The Gauchos held a 4-0 advantage going into the fifth inning, when El Molino scored four times to force the game into extra innings.

Str-r-r-retch Those Kinks

By LEE TREVINO

Some businessmen don't have time to loosen up on the practice tee before playing. They jump out of their car and into the soup by trying to murder their first drive without a warmup.

So they take a wild cut at the ball and pull a muscle. I never play without doing a few basic stretching exercises.

Take three irons from your bag and swing them together, easy-like. Swing them with either arm, then together, until your shoulders feel loose.

Do three or four deep kneebends, always slow and easy. This establishes a good rhythm before you ever hit a ball. If you dash to the first tee, take a couple of quick swings with a club and some fast kneebends, you'll be herky-jerking all the way around.

Clasp a club behind your back with your elbows, then do some slow twists at the hips. It will relax your stomach muscles and loosen up your waist.

Nothing prepares you to play as well as hitting a few practice balls. When this isn't possible, don't try to kill that first tee shot. Throttle down to 65 per cent power, you brute, and you'll hit it flush on the clubface. That'll loosen you up.

Four Marin 'Bests' In Swimming

As often happens, the most important dual swimming meet of the year in Marin produced several of the year's best times, as Terra Linda High School upset San Rafael last Friday, 89½ to 82½.

Four Marin County Athletic League "bests" for 1974 were established. Terra Linda's Dan Stewart did 1:03.0 in the 100-yard breaststroke, San Rafael's Ken DeMont did 2:03.4 in the 200 individual medley, San Rafael's Scott Hislop did 1:53.4 in the 200 freestyle, and the Terra Linda 200 medley relay team of Steve Crow, Stewart, Tom Olund and Mitch Young did 1:45.5.

The best performances:

Petaluma Wins; Casa Grande Loses In Track

Petaluma High School recorded its first 1974 North Bay league track and field victory yesterday with a 91-44 rout over visiting Hogan (Vallejo).

In other Southern Sonoma track meets, Casa Grande (0-2) fell to visiting Sonoma County League foe Piner (Santa Rosa), 106-30, and Rancho Cotate postponed its SCL meet with Analy (Sebastopol) due to a wet track.

Even without middle distance stars Dan Aldridge and Jon Sisler, Petaluma (1-1) dominated the track events. Don Austin, Jose Martinez, Mike Brandner and Mike Johnson were all double winners for the Trojans.

Novato ROTC Strong In Sports

By LEW CODDINGTON

Think of it as five-man close order drill, with basketballs instead of rifles, with gym shorts instead of full dress uniforms, but with the same kind of effective military discipline.

That's one way to explain the recent basketball success of the Air Force Junior ROTC (Reserve Officers Training Corps) cadet squadron at Novato High School.

CA-11, as the unit is known in military jargon, last Saturday won the championship of the Northern California AFJROTC Athletic Association with a 40-39 victory over the Thomas E. Downey High School unit of Modesto in a game at Fairfield High near Sacramento.

And this is just one sports area where the Novato unit is proficient. It also won the handball crown, the two bowling championships, the most recent golf title and (this is the military, after all) the most recent fancy drill competition in the nine-school league.

The basketball team "is the best all-around team the Novato cadet squadron has ever produced. They really play together," said Lt. Col. Water C. Van Emon (ret.), who teaches the ROTC courses at Novato.

Novato's Gary Vanderpool received the outstanding player award for the series, which included earlier victories over Armijo of Fairfield, 70-39, Fairfield, 54-37, and Anderson (near Redding), 62-35.

Vanderpool also coached the team. In fact, all teams in all sports are cadet-coached. Novato also competes in all the other league sports — handball, volleyball, table tennis, chess, track and field, softball, golf, standard drill and fancy drill.

Other members of the basketball team are Tom Seacrist, Alex Walton, Don MacQuarrie, Greg Corbett, Roland Sheperd, Jay Connors, Mike Race, Tim Cameron, Don Hunter, Delbert Henry and Kevin McGuire.

Seacrist and Jeff Foster teamed up March 9 to win the league singles and doubles championships in handball in competition at Armijo High.

There are 78 Novato High students in the ROTC program, eight of them girls, out of a total student enrollment of 1,288.

No varsity athletes are allowed on the teams except in track. "This gets kids participating who wouldn't otherwise," said Van Emon.

"The program is funded entirely with our own money," he added. "We provide our own transportation by private car, with parents driving to the events."

They provide their own success on the court as well, with players driving to the hoop.

CEREMONY — Marin's two all-Northern California basketball players, Byron Stewart of San Rafael High School and Eddie Joe Chavez of Drake, will be honored Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at Stanford University.

The Citizens Savings Athletic Foundation, which chose the team, is staging the affair.

IT TAKES GUTS — Tennis players don't like rainouts any more than anyone else, but for different reasons. They have no worries about playing surfaces, but plenty of problems with their equipment, according to Terra Linda coach Chris Ahearn.

Rain, it turns out, has a bad effect on the expensive catgut racquets favored by the top players. Players furnish their own racquets, and hate deciding between using a catgut racquet, which may cost $20 to restring, and the more durable nylon racquet, which would cost only $10, but can't control the ball as well.

The courts, on the other hand, are ready for use a couple of hours after a rain. The asphalt-cement surfaces soak up no moisture. Standing water can be broomed away, and a breeze and a bit of sun complete the drying job.

'Doubles' Abound In Track-Field

One of the most useful men on any track and field team is one who can effectively "double" — win two events, usually similar, time after time after time.

Judging by the list of the best times and distances turned in so far in Marin County Athletic League dual meets, there are at least five such performers this year.

They are Fred Adams of Tamalpais in the hurdles, Steve Johnson of Terra Linda in the sprints, George Cagle of Novato in the middle distances, Darrell Elder of Redwood in the weights and David Harder of San Marin in the jumps. Each has recorded "bests" in two events so far this year.

The top performances (not including meets scheduled yesterday):

120 HH — Fred Adams (Tamalpais), 15.44; 440 relay — San Marin (Dave Azevedo, Rob Clark, John Guth, Jeff Keville), 45.7; 880 — George Cagle (Novato), 2:00.3; 100 — Steve Johnson (Terra Linda), 10.2; Mile — Steve Locey (Tamalpais), 4:34.7; 440 — Cagle, 51.4; 330 LH — Adams, 41.5; 220 — Johnson, 23.2; Two-Mile — Kim Baez (Tamalpais), 10:03.9; Mile Relay — Terra Linda (Jim Aguila, Kevin Cottrell, Ken Tompkins, Johnson), 1:36.9; Shot put — Darrell Elder (Redwood), 55-7; Discus — Elder, 179-8½; Long Jump — David Harder (San Marin), 21-1; Pole Vault — Stuart Shepherd (Redwood), 11-0; Triple jump — Harder, 42-9½; High jump — Frank Jandura (Tamalpais) and Steve Trobbe (Redwood), tie, 6-0.

Terra Linda In Track-Field Win

Despite double victories from Jim Schneider and Steve Lombardi for Marin Catholic, Terra Linda High School beat the Wildcats, 96-41, yesterday in a Marin County Athletic League track and field meet in Greenbrae. Terra Linda is now 3-0 in the league, while Marin is 0-3.

Combined AP & UPI

CHICAGO — Dave Olerich, 29, a well-traveled seven-year veteran of the National Football League, has been obtained by the Chicago Bears from the San Francisco 49ers for an undisclosed future draft choice, the Bears announced yesterday.

Olerich, 6-1 and 220 pounds, was a product of the University of San Francisco. An outside linebacker, he started with San Francisco, went to the St. Louis Cardinals, then to the Houston Oilers, and back to San Francisco, playing in 75 games in seven seasons.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers point out that only 38 managers in modern baseball history have lasted 10 seasons or more. One of them is Ralph Houk, their new pilot who has managed the Yankees for 11 seasons.

Twenty-five of the 38 managers of 10 years' experience had winning records. Houk is 14th on the list with 944 wins against 806 defeats.

Former Yankee manager Joe McCarthy heads the list. In 24 seasons with the Cubs, Yankees and Red Sox, McCarthy had a 2,126-1,335 record.

3-Run Fifth Lifts Drake To Victory

Drake High School scored all its runs in the fifth inning to beat Marin Catholic, 3-2, in its Marin County Athletic League baseball opener in San Anselmo yesterday.

The Pirates came up with four of their five hits in the inning to beat the Wildcats. Marin, which started its league season Tuesday with a 3-2 victory over Tamalpais, is 1-1.

After leading off the inning with a hit, Bob Gare scored on a Matt Elliott single. Mike Whelan plated Dave Godwin on a single and Elliott tallied on a Marin error, when Whelan attempted to steal second base.

Bill Slaby went the distance for the Pirates, despite the long layoff due to rains. He gave up only four hits, and walked only two (one intentional).

Divorce For A Broadcaster

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — An out-of-court settlement was reached yesterday in the divorce of Chicago White Sox broadcaster Harry Caray and his wife of 24 years.

Caray, a former broadcaster for the St. Louis Cardinals, agreed to turn over to his former wife $105,000 in real estate and their home in Ladue, Mo.

A suit filed by Mrs. Caray is still pending in St. Louis County Circuit Court against Mrs. Dolorse Johnson of Ballwin, Mo., charging alienation of affection and seeking $200,000 in damages.

Our better half.

- The exclusive Built-in-Pourer avoids spilling.
- It's two inches shorter, so it's easier to handle, easier to store.
- The price makes it even better.

Satellite Stock Health Is Good

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought 100 shares of Communications Satellite (NYSE) at $37. I am 67, retired on a pension with assets of $60,000 and a home. What is your opinion of this stock? — F.T.

A. Operating results for 1973 showed strong improvement, with earnings rising 45 per cent on a 12.5 per cent rise in revenues. Shareholders, as a result, are now receiving 20-cent quarterly in dividends, the second increase in the dividend rate within a year. Reduced expenses, a sharp rise in the lease of half circuits and an uptrend in international business were primarily responsible for the improvement. Some loss of revenues from the sale of CQ's Alaskan earth station will occur this year.

In addition, Hawaiian and Puerto Rican operations are expected to generate reduced revenues in coming years. Increasing international usage, however, should more than offset the loss of domestic offshore business.

A new digisat system — an advanced digital service via satellite — will be in operation soon between U.S. mainland and Hawaii, with U.S./Atlantic service added shortly. By year-end, an 80 per cent-owned Atlantic/Pacific maritime satellite system will be operative.

While investor concern over increased domestic competition and a possibly unfavorable rate decision by the Federal Communications Commission are considerations which have impacted the shares unfavorably in the market, in my opinion, the potential in international communications more than compensates for these factors. Shares are worth retaining for their long-term growth prospects.

Q. My sister holds McCrory Corp. bonds, 7½ per cent and 7¾ per cent due 1994 and 1995. Are these safe? — W.W.

A. These subordinated debentures, trading about $350 below par value, yield 11 per cent and 12 per cent currently, a strong indication of their inherent risk. Furthermore, the B ratings assigned to them by Standard & Poor's denote the speculative nature of these debt instruments.

McCrory's long-term debt outstanding was $347 million at the 1973 year-end and was 245 per cent of property. Rapid American, holder of 62.5 per cent of McCrory's common stock, has proposed a merger of the two companies.

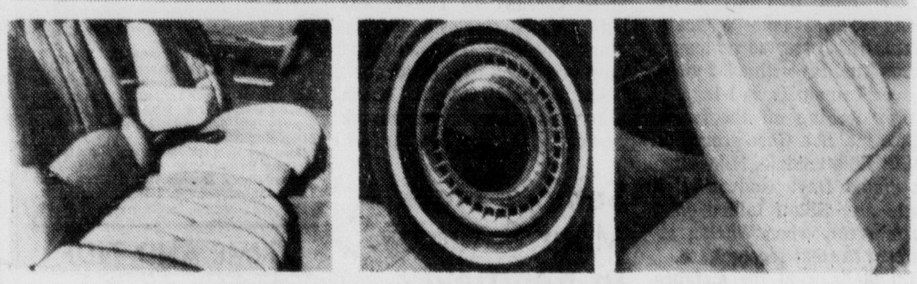

Mercedes-Benz Receives Honors

MONTVALE, N.J. — Although 1974 is not yet four months old, the Mercedes-Benz 450 series has already won two international awards.

The most recent honor was the selection of the 450SL/450SLC limited-edition coupes as best imported luxury/personal cars in the annual car and Driver magazine readers poll.

Earlier this year, the entire Mercedes-Benz 450 series, which also includes the 450SE and 450SEL four-door sedans, was voted "car of the year" by an international jury composed of top automotive writers from 11 European nations.

LUXURY COMPACT VALIANT

Chrysler-Plymouth has two new luxury compacts, a two-door hardtop and a four-door sedan, named the Valiant Brougham. Adding a new level of comfort and style to Valiant's traditional value and economy, it has power steering, automatic transmission, and many other features as standard equipment. Front bucket seats are upholstered in luxury parchment-crushed velour cloth and vinyl. Marin dealers are Corte Madera Chrysler Plymouth, Francisco Dodge Center in San Rafael and Nave Dodge in Novato.

Market Takes Dip After Good Start

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher on the New York Stock Exchange today in feeble trading but began losing ground near the end of the first two hours of the session.

Brokers and investors were dismayed by soaring interest rates. Analysts said they felt the gains made during yesterday's trading were not significant because of the low volume.

American Motors Corp. was the most active stock, gaining half a point to 9 ¾ on a volume of 93,700 shares. Toyota Motors said in Tokyo earlier today it was lowering its sales target in the United States to only 350,000 vehicles. Also General Motors said it had ended negotiations to repurchase a six-cylinder engine line from American Motors.

Technicolor was second most active, up 1 ⅛ at 9 ½.

Oils were lower with Atlantic Richfield off 1 ¼. Steels were mixed. Motors edged slightly higher. Chemicals were mixed.

Woolworth Reports Earnings For '73

NEW YORK — Total consolidation sales of the F.W. Woolworth Co. in 1973 amounted to a record $3,722,107,000, an increase of 19.3 per cent over sales of $3,119,152,000, Lester A. Burcham, chairman, and John S. Roberts, president, reported.

Woolworth's total 1973 income, including its 52.7 per cent equity in the earnings of F.W. Woolworth and Co., Limited, Great Britain, increased 18.1 per cent to $93,474,000, or $3.15 per share, from $79,165,000, or $2.60 per share in 1972.

Firm Will Boost Truck Buying

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Consolidated Freightways Inc. Plans to boost its purchases of new motor carrier equipment by nearly 50 per cent more than the $24,467,000 purchased last year, chairman William G. White told the San Francisco Society of Financial Analysts.

"We are not expecting more than a nominal increase in tonnage for the year as a whole, despite the fact that volume has been strong through the first quarter," White said. He added that the stepped-up buying program would improve fuel economy and help hold down maintenance costs.

Trucking accounts for about 59 per cent of the company's total revenue.

Silver Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman today quoted silver at 5.120 cents per ounce, up 0.065 from yesterday.

Chaplain's Assistant May Have Disappeared Over Log On Drugs

WESKAN, Kan. (UPI) — Chaplain's assistant John D. Kuder disappeared mysteriously at sea during a storm Dec. 3. The Navy said it was an accident.

A U.S. senator from Kansas said yesterday there is evidence, contained in a packet mailed by Kuder two weeks before his death, that suggests drug use among the 730-man crew and he wants an investigation.

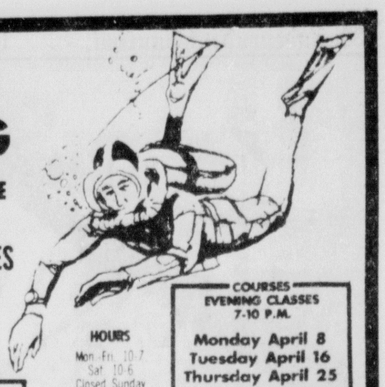

"The packet had three names of sailors involved in drugs," the petty officer's mother, Mrs. Margaret Kuder, told UPI. "John said they had threatened to throw him overboard, and they had also threatened his relatives.

"If he's dead because of the drug bit or what he found out about it, we want it to count for something. We're not vindictive about this, but if we can make a better Navy this way, I'm sure that's what my son had in mind."

The Mount Whitney was 210 miles north of Bermuda when Kuder disappeared. Crewmen were forbidden that day to go on deck because of a storm and the Navy found no witnesses.

"The report from the Navy raises more questions than it answers," Sen. Robert M. Dole, R-Kan., said.

Conference On Inebriation Recovery Unit Tomorrow

Two Marin County supervisors will meet tomorrow with Marin Hospital District officials to iron out differences over setting up an inebriation recovery unit at the Community Mental Health Center.

The meeting is slated for 10 a.m. at Marin General Hospital. Supervisor Michael Wornum and Robert A. Roumiguiere will attend along with other county officials.

The board of supervisors last week agreed the county's drunks should be allowed to dry out at the mental health center, but the hospital board protested that the center does not have the proper state license.

Supervisors said this week they would take full legal responsibility for the operation of the unit and agreed to ask for authorization from the state pending issuance of a license.

The hospital board requested the joint committee meeting to discuss the county's offer.

Water Bond For November Ballot

By a 3-to-2 vote on a $200 expensive item, directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District last night affirmed their intention of putting a bond issue for a water reservoir on the November ballot.

The motion before the board authorized spending up to $200 for a survey to determine if water could flow by gravity or would have to be pumped from Arroyo Honda Creek to a possible reservoir site on lands above the Radio Corporation of America facility on Mesa Road.

Estimated cost of the reservoir and transmission lines is $240,000.

Directors Judith Weston and Paul D. Kayfetz argued against proposing any reservoir or storage dam to the voters. They said any such measure would fail to receive the necessary two-thirds majority to pass because of the cost as well as the inducements to growth it would offer.

Supporting the motion were directors William E. Niman, J. Michael Groshong and Lewis P. MacAdams Jr. They argued that a large storage facility was needed, not only to increase domestic water supply, but also to meet safety standards in fire fighting.

"It is up to us to put the best thing we can on the ballot and let the community decide," said MacAdams. He said the reservoir, with a capacity of 50 acre-feet, would meet current needs and allow a growth rate of six hourses a year for 20 years.

Directors unanimously endorsed a traffic circulation plan proposed by the Bolinas Planning Group.

Planning group member Wayne Paulsen said the road plan proposes improving portions of a series of streets to 18-fot widths in order to provide a route giving better access to neighborhoods and diffuse traffic now concentrated on Elm and Overlook roads.

The major streets to be improved would begin with a section of Evergreen running to Poplar and from there along Kale, Larch, Locust and Opal streets.

Board members also voted unanimously to support a request by members of Bolinas Community, Inc., asking Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to begin undergrounding downtown utility lines.

Efficiency Report Is Due Tonight

The $5,500 report done by the San Francisco management consulting firm of Kilmer and Spencer has indicated that Belvedere needs higher building fees, better maintenance of streets and utilities, more communication between city staff and city council and stricter dog control.

Panel Asks 50 Units To Be Cut

The Seaport Hills housing development proposed for Ricardo Road in Strawberry should be cut from 170 to 120 condominium units, the Strawberry Recreation District board decided last night.

District Mgr. Gayle L. Hunter said that the board will write to the Marin Planning Commission expressing objections to the project which will be reviewed by the commission Monday.

The district board said the project should also have more recreational facilities and that its buildings should be less massive.

Representatives of Doric Development Co. were at last night's meeting to propose changes in the project which were supposed to meet objections previously expressed by the board.

The main change in the project, according to Miss Hunter, was a proposal to use shingle siding instead of stucco.

77 Die In African Charter Plane Crash

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — A chartered DC4 airliner carrying African miners home to Blantyre, Malawi, crashed today soon after take-off from Francistown in neighboring Botswana, mining officials said.

They said 77 of the 83 persons aboard were killed. The dead included 75 miners and the British pilot and co-pilot. Five Malawians and the plane's flight engineer survived, the officials said.

"We have counted 77 dead so far and have taken six men to the hospital," said one official at the crash site. "I cannot say more at this stage."

The privately-owned four-engined propeller plane plunged to the ground moments after taking off from Francistown for the two-hour, 600-mile flight to Blantyre, capital of Malawi in southern Africa.

Officials said no cause had yet been determined for the cause of the crash, which took place in cloudy weather at dawn.

The airplane was operated by Wenela Air Services, which ferries migratory mine labor to and from South Africa. It was Wenela's first crash since it began operations in 1952, mining officials said.

The pilot was identified as Capt. William Norman Strike, 54; his senior first officer as John Ernest Nightingale, 42. Officials said the South African flight engineer, Jacobus Redlinghuys, escaped with minor injuries.

It was South Africa's worst air disaster since April, 1968, when a South African Airways Boeing 707 crashed on take-off from Windhoek, South West Africa, killing 122 passengers and crew.

Missouri Makes Marriage Easier

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Missouri is taking some of the hassle out of getting married.

After Aug. 13, one trip to the courthouse will be all that's needed to get a marriage license provided three days have passed since the man and woman successfully passed blood tests.

For years, a couple had to make application at the courthouse and wait three days. Then the license could be issued upon receipt of satisfactory blood test results. This involved two trips to the courthouse.

Gov. Christopher Bond signed the bill into law Tuesday, effective Aug. 13.

Kent State Guardsman Claims That General Acted Like Fool

CLEVELAND (UPI) — An Ohio National Guardsman says commander Gen. Robert Canterbury "led us like a blind fool" against antiwar demonstrators at Kent State University in 1972. Four students were killed and nine wounded in a hail of Guard gunfire.

Mathew J. McManus, who quit the Guard in February after 10 years service, said in a copyrighted story in the Cleveland Press yesterday that former Gov. James A. Rhodes "misled" the troops before they faced the students protesting the U.S. invasion of Cambodia.

A federal grand jury here last Friday indicted the eight former Guardsmen for violating the students' civil rights.

Each of the eight former Guardsmen pleaded innocent today at arraignment before U.S. Magistrate Herbert T. Maher to the charge of "willfully assaulting and intimidating demonstrators on the Kent State University campus May 4, 1970, by firing in their direction and violating the constitutional rights not to be deprived of liberty without due process of law."

The eight were released on personal recognizance and were to appear at a pretrial hearing Friday.

In addition to McManus, 28, West Salem, Ohio, those indicted are former Guardsmen Lawrence A. Shafer, 28, Ravenna, Ohio; James D. McGee, 27, Ravenna; William E. Perkins, 28, Canton, Ohio; James E. Pierce, 20, Amelia Island, Fla.; Ralph W. Zoller, 27, Mantua, Ohio; Barry W. Morris, 29, Kent, Ohio, and Leon Smith, 27, Bay City, Ohio.

The four students killed were Sandra Scheuer, Youngstown, Ohio, Allison Krause, Pittsburgh, Jeffrey Miller, Plainview, N.Y., and William Schroeder, Lorain, Ohio.

If convicted, the Guardsmen could face up to life prison terms.

In the newspaper article, McManus said: "I don't think the grand jury went far enough. They should have taken a look at Gen. Canterbury's action that day. We were misled by Former Gov. James Rhodes, who did not give us the circumstances before we went up there, and Gen. Canterbury violaated every rule of military procedure.

"The major there Harry D. Jones, was very competent and had everything under control. Then the general assumed command, and he led us like a blind fool. As I stood there on the hill looking at the odds, the general told us to move up the hill. I could tell we were in a predicament and we would soon regret it.

"It was obvious that when he told us to go up that hill with no other troops behind us that the students were going to be able to surround us."

McManus was indicted for firing a 12-gauge shotgun at the demonstrators and took the Fifth Amendment on his attorney's advice when called to testify before the grand jury.

McManus said he was sorry he did not testify.

"I would have told them everything," said McManus. "I have nothing to hide. This has been four years of hell for me, not knowing what the next day will bring."

Lack Of Quorum For Tiburon Meeting

A meeting of the Tiburon Planning Commission scheduled for last night was postponed due to lack of a quorum, according to Andrew E. Hahto, planning assistant.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. next Thursday at city hall. Among items on the agenda will be setting a schedule for review of the Sequoia Pacific Downtown plan environmental impact report and discussion on the final map for the Hilarita moderate income housing project.

DREAMING OF CRUISES

Scouts Seeking A Home For Ship

By JEFF GREER

While other Boy Scouts learn how to put up tents and take 50-mile hikes, the teen-age members of Sea Explorer Ship 55 of San Rafael want to cruise California's waters in their 75-foot vessel, the Active.

But before they can finish the herculean task of turning Active into a neat, proud ship, the youngsters and their adult sponsors must find a permanent berth for her.

Active has had to move repeatedly in the two years she's been based in the San Rafael Canal. In some cases it was because she was too large to use private, donated berthing space; other times she lost her place to a city park construction project and to demolition work at an oil firm depot where she was a temporary guest.

Now the Active is tied up near the Boat Yard off Harbor Street. When the tide goes out, the forward half of her hull rests on a rocky bottom.

Even the Active's heavy timbers aren't supposed to take this kind of a beating, explained Dale Friberg, skipper of Explorer Ship 55.

Friberg and the Marin Council of Boy Scouts have asked San Rafael city officials to approve plans to transform old pilings in the canal behind Montecito Shopping Center into a platform and moorings. The use of the site will be donated by Abraham Blumenfeld, according to William Muggenthaler, one of the scout unit's adult boosters.

The San Rafael Planning Commission has referred the plans to the San Rafael Canal Committee for its recommendations before commissioners act on the permit. Fred F. Enemark, canal committee chairman, told the Independent-Journal on Monday that the referral hasn't yet reached his desk. He said the committee will act on it as soon as possible.

Enemark, who became a Sea Scout himself in 1924, said he's all in favor of the teen-agers' ambitions for their 50-ton ship.

The Active was built for the Navy in 1961 for use as a torpedo recovery vessel. She doesn't look it — because she led a hard life in her military days — but Active is younger than most of the scouts who man her.

When Active was turned over to the San Rafael Sea Explorer unit the vessel was tied up in Port Hueneme with no engines. Her gunwales were battered and partly carried away by ungentle encounters with docks and pilings, and the fiberglass covering her wide deck was half torn away.

"Active was a mess" but still stout and seaworthy, Skipper Friberg explained. Dreaming of salty adventure, the scouts raised $2,500 by dint of spaghetti feeds, donations and other efforts to get the vessel towed to San Rafael.

The 75-footer is the third large craft in the scout unit's eight-year history, Friberg said. Ship 55 was launched originally with a 26-foot whaleboat donated by the Petaluma Sea Explorer unit.

Next came a 45-foot vessel built during World War II, that had been sunk and refloated. The scouts got her shipshape and won awards in Bay Area scouting competitions with her, Friberg said. But the vessel's wooden hull was held together with iron hardware. Salt water so badly corroded the iron that the Coast Guard condemned her.

The scouts and helpful shipyards removed the diesel engine from the 45-footer and paired it with another one to power the 75-footer, Friberg reported. A yachtsman donated one huge generator for the vessel; the Boys Club of San Francisco another.

The boys have made a few cruises in the Active, including a 10-day outing up the Sacramento River, but they've been so busy renovating her they've had no time for the annual competitions they used to enjoy, the skipper said.

The unit has 15 teen-age members from San Rafael, Fairfax, Novato and Petaluma, plus six adult commissioners, Muggenthaler said. Friberg added that perhaps other prospective members were scared off "when they came down to the ship and saw it looks messy."

The scouts have refurbished a forecastle living quarters with bunks and toilet facilities, installed a cozy galley and wardroom area, and decked over the gaping ramp on Active's stern where the Navy formerly dragged torpedos aboard.

The stern area will be rebuilt with a raised deckhouse, giving the scouts more living and sleeping room on long cruises they want to make.

The scout unit recently was given a small power boat by Bechtel Corp. It contained a modern radar unit and other electronic units that the scouts promptly transferred to the bridge of the Active.

The Marin Scout Council pays for the vessel's insurance, but all operating expenses and the equipment are financed by the scouts' own fund-raising efforts or by donations, Friberg said. Each scout pays annual dues of $25, mostly for fuel for cruises and other expenses, he added.

Friberg himself is a graduate of Sea Scout training; he originally was a member of the older San Rafael Ship 20, which specializes mostly in small sailing craft, he said.

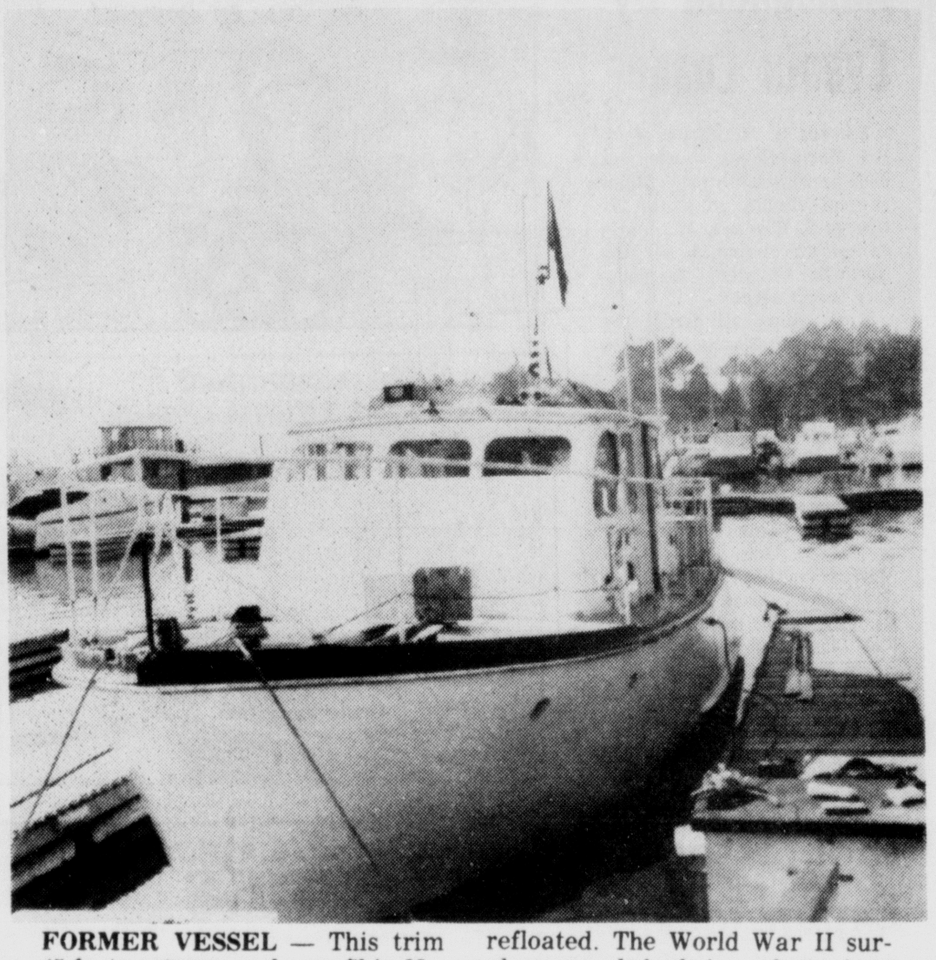

Friberg holds the motorboat operator's license required by the Coast Guard to skipper the scout ship. When he isn't busy guiding the teen-age sailors in refurbishing and operating the Active, he is professional skipper for a 57-foot yacht owned by Frank Pagannini, based at Marin Yacht Club. Pagannini often takes three-month summer cruises; he usually hires 18-year-old crewmen who've learned their seafaring skills in Scout Ship 55, Friberg said.

The Active is larger than most other Bay Area Sea Explorer ships except for one 100-footer in the East Bay, Friberg reported. The Active is to be hauled out of the water in July for a checkup and installation of two larger, donated propellers that should raise her speed to 12 knots, the skipper said.

By the time that job is done, Active will have a more permanent berth, and her youthful crew can concentrate on getting her ready for a coastal cruise this summer, Friberg hopes.

SCOUTS' PRIDE — The Active, 75-foot motor vessel now owned by San Rafael Sea Explorer Ship 55, is tied up in a rocky-bottomed, shallow portion of the San Rafael Canal. The scout group is in dire need of a better berth for her, so they can finish refurbishing the work-worn ex-Navy torpedo recovery craft. (Photo by Bob Hax)

FORMER VESSEL — This trim 45-foot motor vessel was Ship No. 55's former pride and joy; they renovated it after it was sunk and refloated. The World War II surplus vessel had iron fastenings that salt water ate away until she had to be given up as unsafe.

SKIPPER — Dale Friberg, adult leader for Sea Explorer Ship No. 55, learned his seafaring skills as a member of the older Ship No. 20 in San Rafael. He now is employed as a professional yacht skipper.

Edward H. McGlaston of 265 Bel Marin Keys, Novato, has been appointed March of Dimes special events chairman by George J. Silvestri, Jr., Marin campaign chairman for the North Bay Chapter of the voluntary health agency.

McGlaston will direct the third annual March of Dimes Bike-A-Thon on April 27.

According to McGlaston, sponsored entrants will assemble from 8 a.m., to 10 a.m., at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, prepared to cover a 40-mile charted route to Sausalito, across the Golden Gate Bridge to Golden Gate Park, Lake Merced, and back to Tamalpais High School. Check points along the way will be manned by the 91st Support Battalion of the Army Reserves.

Entry forms are available at local bike shops or at the North Bay March of Dimes office, 4460 Redwood Highway, San Rafael.

Montessori Expansion Is Approved

Plans to increase by 50 per cent the size of the Marin Montessori School in Corte Madera have been approved by the Corte Madera Board of Design.

The expansion of the private school at 5200 Paradise Drive will allow it to accommodate an increased enrollment from 50 to 80 students, according to William G. McBride, town zoning administrator.

Plans to expand the school were approved last month by the town planning commission. No persons appeared last night to protest the expansion, McBride said.

The Corte Madera Board of Design also:

EXTENSION — Granted a one-year extension of previous approval for three warehouses and an office building at 100 Tamal Vista Boulevard.

Trumps Also Prove Valuable In Keeping Control Of Hand

Trumps are usually tricks, but they have another value: They enable you to keep control of the hand. If you waste your trumps you may lose control of a hand that seems unbeatable. Today's hand should separate the bridge experts from the pinochle pundits.

THIRD TRICK

West began by taking the king and ace of clubs. And then West led the jack of clubs at the third trick.

Let's see what happens if South makes the mistake of ruffing the third round of clubs. He begins to draw trumps and finds out the bad news.

The situation is hopeless. If South continues to draw trumps, he will go down two. West will eventually ruff and collect two good clubs.

HEART SWITCH

South can hold it to down one by switching to hearts after one round of trumps. West ruffs the second round of hearts but cannot continue clubs since dummy will ruff. West must therefore return a trump or a diamond. South must eventually lose a diamond for a one-trick defeat.

Now let's go back to the third trick, when West leads the jack of clubs. South cannot gain anything by ruffing. He should discard his low diamond instead.

This discard cannot lose. No matter how the hand is played, South must eventually lose that low diamond.

KEY ADVANTAGE

The advantage of discarding is that South manages to keep control of the hand. If West continues with a fourth club, dummy ruffs with a low trump. It is then easy for declarer to extract all five trumps and claim the rest of the tricks. If West leads anything but a club at the fourth trick, South has an even easier time.

High Court Ruling Protects Life Styles

The United States Supreme Court on Monday cleared away doubts of legality of local ordinances prohibiting "communes" in single-family residential zones, but a report of the decision evoked no enthusiasm at that night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

This seemed a bit strange, for less than a year ago, the San Rafael council considered adoption of such an ordinance, modeled on the one in effect in Palo Alto.

At a meeting last Sept. 4, after hearing heated debate on the proposed ordinance, the council delayed action. It asked for study of other ways of dealing with the problem created by "communes." One reason advanced for the delay was that the issue was before the Supreme Court and might be found unconstitutional.

THAT FEAR was swept away Monday by the high court's 7-to-2 decision, which involved a Belle Terre, N.Y., ordinance forbidding occupancy of a dwelling in a single-family zone by more than two people unrelated by blood or marriage. (The Palo Alto ordinance, and that proposed in San Rafael, allow five unrelated persons in a single-family dwelling.)

Justice William O. Douglas, in the Supreme Court's majority decision, wrote that local governments' zoning power "is ample to lay out zones where family values, youth values and the blessing of quiet seclusion and clean air make the area a sanctuary for people."

The decision underwrote a policy by the Supreme Court of keeping hands off local zoning issues — a policy in effect since 1926, when the court, with William Howard Taft as chief justice, declared that the exercise of broad zoning powers by local jurisdictions was constitutional.

THE "COMMUNE" issue has been made a battle-ground of advocates of freedom for "new life styles," with opponents pictured as repressive reactionaries (a description that could scarcely fit Justice Douglas).

The issue is otherwise. If a city has power to establish single-family zones — which was never in question — it must have power to define a single family. Allowing up to five unrelated persons to qualify as a single family is certainly a broad and generous definition.

The issue in San Rafael largely revolved around the Sikh Ashram on Culloden Park Road, since complaints about it spurred drafting of the ordinance. During discussions, however, the city administration proposed that conditional use permits might be issued in single-family zones, which could allow the ashram — and perhaps some other existing "communes" — to be continued. Rules for such use permits could be so drawn that the nonconforming "families" would create minimal change in the character of a neighborhood.

Life styles are important to everybody — not only to those who choose styles different from the majority. Zoning is one way to protect them. The Supreme Court, in its decision this week, has re-emphasized this sometimes-forgotten truth.

STROUT IN WASHINGTON

Departure Of Schultz Recalls Glowing Promise For Cabinet

By RICHARD L. STROUT

WASHINGTON — The last member of President Nixon's original cabinet, George Shultz, is departing. He outlasted all the other 11 early starters but not as secretary of labor where he began. He ended up secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Nixon has named 27 men to 30 cabinet posts to date, which seems to be a record. President Truman named 26 in slightly less than eight years, and Franklin Roosevelt only 25 in 12.

Nobody quite knows what a "cabinet" represents. It has different meanings for each president. Nearly always the public overrates its institutional importance. It is thought of as a collective, consultative entity in the Canadian cabinet sense.

There was some hint of this in Mr. Nixon's dramatic TV introduction of the new cabinet to the nation on Dec. 11, 1968. The mass introduction was unprecedented and great theater.

IN THIS GALA atmosphere Mr. Nixon explained that the new man had "an extra dimension which is the difference between good leadership and superior or even great leadership . . . Every one of these men is an independent thinker." He didn't want "a cabinet of yes men," he said, and each of them would be urged to speak out "on all the grat issues."

Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew, he said, would also "be a member of the cabinet" and would "also add that extra dimension of coolness under fire and pressure."

Mr. Nixon probably did not mean that Mr. Agnew would be a cabinet member in the literal sense. If he were counted in the overall, cabinet turnover would, of course, be one higher.

Robert H. Finch, head of HEW, was the first to leave. Then went Walter J. Hickel, former governor of Alaska. He was disturbed by Cambodia, and felt that he could not penetrate the circle around the president.

He wrote a letter to Mr. Nixon, leaked to the press, complaining of "isolation of thought" and urging the president to communicate more openly with cabinet and nation. He retired in November, 1970.

IN THE DECEMBER, 1968, presentation Mr. Nixon hailed special qualities of other members of his team, one by one. He said Att. Gen.-designate John Mitchell was "devoted . . . to waging an effective war against crime" and also "a just man . . . who recognizes the necessity to assure justice as well as law and order."

Maruice Stans, the new commerce secretary, was a "very successful businessman" who has "some exciting plans to mobilize the business community" in solving urban problems.

Mr. Nixon, of course, was not putting together a team like George Washington's, chosen from the most outstanding statesmen in the country, nor like Lincoln, who chose the chief rivals for the nomination for leading posts, nor like Wilson, who put the most outstanding member of his party (Bryan) at its head.

Mr. Nixon viewed members more as administrators than consultants. Between him and them he interposed a highly centralized, intensely loyal White House staff whose powerful members were almost assistant presidents.

Men like H. R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman, and Ron Ziegler were long associated with Mr. Nixon, and had no independent political strength.

George Romney, former governor of Michigan, like Hickel, found he could not penetrate the inner White House staff circle and left.

On the other hand, the durable Shultz moved about filling offices as they arose, as did for awhile, Elliot Richardson (HEW, Defense, and Justice) until his resignation.

Probably these limited powers more than anything else explain the turnover of Mr. Nixon's kaleidoscopic cabinet.

How Ross Valley Widget Lost Half Million While Making It

By J. GALT

The year 1973 was a good year for the Ross Valley Widget Co., Inc. Indeed, the last ten years had been good. Net profits after taxes had been $50,000 each year for a decade.

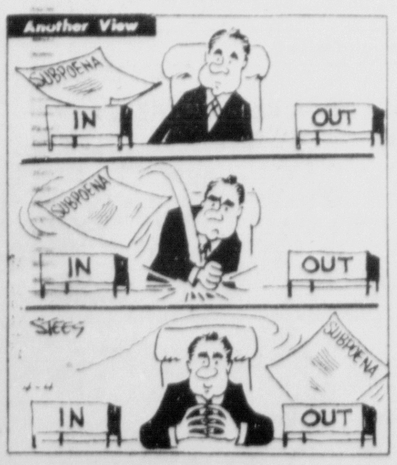

In 1964 the Ross Valley Widget Co. bought a brand new widget-making machine for $1,000,000. Perhaps you didn't know, but widget-making machines work perfectly for 10 years and then collapse with no salvage value. The company's tax man knew this, however, and a straight-line depreciation of $100,000 was established for each of the next 10 years.

Perhaps you didn't know, but the demand for widgets is very steady, and each year —1964 through 1973 — Ross Valley Widget made $200,000 in gross profits. The tax-free depreciation charge was taken against the gross profit each year, leaving a net profit before taxes of $100,000. From this they paid $50,000 in income taxes, leaving $50,000 for the stockholders.

On Jan. 1, 1974 — right on schedule — the widget-making machine collapsed in a pile of debris and there was no salvage value. Having recaptured $1,000,000 tax free in depreciation charges, the president went shopping for a brand new machine. Funny thing. Widget-making machines sell for $2,000,000 in 1974.

The president discovered that the company had understated its depreciation charges by a cool $1,000,000. "Good gravy," he exclaimed, "by understating depreciation, we've overstated profits $1,000,000 since 1964! By overstating profits, the company has overpaid taxes by $500,000 in 10 years! In fact, no taxes should have ever been paid because no profits have ever been made!"

Thus doth an inflating federal government take the income tax and turn it into a tax on capital too. The world of nature has a similar process. The animals call it Eating Your Young.

ERWIN D. CANHAM: Embattled Press

The role of the news media in the United States has never been more controversial.

Some ardent supporters of President Nixon claim that his difficulties have been largely created by newspapers, radio, and television. Another group gives the news media credit for bringing to light conditions which badly need exposing.

In between these two poles, the great part of American public opinion is deeply dependent on its sources of news but somehow wonders whether the great power of the media is not unchecked and unbalanced.

THUS IT IS OPEN season on the press, printed and electronic. A recent incursion was in President Nixon's campaign reform message, which suggests legislative revision of the U.S. Supreme Court's unanimous opinion on libel, and another law to establish some kind of statutory "right of reply." Meantime, pending in proposed revisions of the federal criminal code are sleeping provisions which would greatly increase the power of government to interfere with the free press.

Soon the Supreme Court will hear the Tornillo case, in which an obscure and little-used Florida statute would impose criminal penalities on a newspaper refusing to publish "any reply" a political candidate might make to material concerning him which the newspaper had published.

Enforcement of the Florida law, which is in very broad terms, would make independent and responsible editing of a newspaper virtually impossible. And any federal statute on the right of reply, such as the president proposes, would have to be most carefully drawn so as not to do much more harm than good. Coincidentally, the president also proposes repeal of the equal-time doctrine, now applied to the electronic media, since it makes impossible rational coverage of political campaigning and has helped send campaign expenses sky-high.

PROPOSALS TO PROVIDE greater recourse against libel than present laws and court decisions permit, and to enforce the right of reply, will be very appealing to many people. There have been sufficient abuses to build up a deep public sense of grievance. Meantime, when, on the other hand, news media ask for laws shielding their own sources from disclosure, the public naturally suspects inconsistency.

All of which suggests, it seems to me, that the Founding Fathers were very wise in putting the guarantee of free press in very broad terms as they did in the First Amendment. Its construction is up to the courts, and on the whole, down through the years, they have sensibly supported the people's right to know. The somewhat adverse recent decision of the Supreme Court on the protection of sources may well be moderated in future cases, as the court suggested it might.

THE NEWS MEDIA should not libel people. They should voluntarily provide a right of reply. These are not mere counsels of perfection. A libel is not a mere error of fact, but matter either knowingly false or published "with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not."

Responsible newspapers always have granted a reasonable right of reply, in terms of correction of fact. But to require newspapers to open their columns to anything an allegedly aggrieved person demands would destroy freedom and responsibility. The issue in the Florida case, be it noted, was an editorial, not a news story.

The pressure for legislation, however, is likely to continue. News media will never please everybody. They will always have a critical role toward public figures. They tend to group into larger and larger aggregations of power. The nightly news shows on television have a great impact on public opinion, by what they include and what they leave out. Editorial judgment is always subjective.

But news media can try harder than ever to be careful and accurate and fair. Such standards are only in part subjective. Freedom from legislative restraint depends upon performance — and public awareness of performance.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Too Many Dogs Allowed To Run Loose At Will

I think the leash laws should be made stricter and/or better enforced. We are surrounded by people who own dogs and just let them run loose.

We own small animals — rabbits and guinea pigs — and have had some killed and injured by dogs. Dogs run in packs of four or five and have chased off almost all the deer and quail that used to live around here. Another dogs sits in the middle of the street and whenever a car comes by, will not move until it has honked a few times. It also chases bicycles and people walking dogs. It seems that some dogs bark all day and others bark all night.

Some people take the "love me, love my dog" bit a little too far. We may live on a game preserve, but the only game being preserved are dogs and cats. If you're planning to buy a dog or cat and let it run loose — please don't.

Glad Shakespeare Festival Is Returning To Marin

I heartily agree with your editorial of March 30, that the Shakespeare Festival (a community group) and the college district are cooperating to mutual advantage and definitely an advantage to the community. Certainly the Shakespeare Festival is a most worthwhile community effort and should be encouraged in every possible way, and certainly under Mr. Dunn's direction the performances will be of high artistic quality.

I would like to point out a few basic facts in regard to the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building that have been misconstrued by the public and in the press.

The Palace of Fine Arts has a higher rental structure than the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building. . .

The policies and rates for the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building are established by the board of supervisors, and they are now being reviewed by a committee composed of Supervisors Robert Roumiguiere and Gary Giacomini.

Many community groups are using the building to the advantage of the community, such as the Marin Symphony, Marin Civic Ballet, Youth in Arts, Boyd Museum, Terra Linda Art Association, Marin Music Chest, Marin Concert Association, Terra Linda High School, County School District, San Rafael High School, plus many others.

Moratorium Decision Just, Should Be Upheld

It is high time that people supported the law instead of trying to divert it to further their own interests, at the expense of others. Judge B. Warren McGuire's decision of March 14 rendering the water moratorium illegal was not only a fair and just decision but the product of intensive study and research, and expedites the law in a manner designed to protect the interests of everyone, instead of just a few open-spaced-minded individuals.

Until the prevailing laws are changed to protect "this few" any motion of appeal would result in further disaster and the money spent could be used in a much more befitting manner, namely that of procuring supplemental water, which already has the approval of the voting public.

Candidate On Social Security Number Use

I realize that my brief statement at the Marin Alternative candidates' night concerning the use of Social Security numbers to identify the records of mental health patients could have been easily misunderstood.

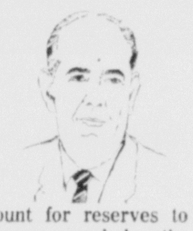

My position on this matter was that I am opposed to the use of names to identify the records of mental health patients and that some form of identification similar to Social Security numbers should be used to provide anonymity in handling these records. I am familiar with Assemblyman Bagley's bill (AB 2802, now pending in Judiciary Committee) and with the controversy surrounding the proposed state EDP computer system to create files on private citizens. I understand that such systems can easily misuse Social Security numbers and I support AB 2802 and the need for protection from this kind of invasion of our privacy.

Title Insurance Comes Under State Scrutiny

By EARL G. WATERS

Whether justified or not there are probably few who have not been ranlked by the treatment and charges to them by title insurance companies. Especially the charges.

Perhaps the name the operation goes by is conducive to the misconception.

Actually the document given by the title company is not so much insurance as it is a guarantee that the property is as described and clear of indebtedness other than shown. And no title policy is necessary to purchase property if the buyer does not require financing and is willing to assume the risks — those risks being the possibility of building on the wrong property or buying property encumbered by mortgages, liens, taxes or easements not disclosed.

If the title company does its work properly there will be no loss. Fees for title "insurance" are really for search to assure clear title, although they do include a small amount for reserves to protect against losses caused by the companies' errors.

NEVERTHELESS there seem to be grounds for being rankled. These stem from a seemingly uncompetitive situation and possible price fixing within the industry.

The title business is relatively uncompetitive insofar as the buyer is concerned. He usually is directed by the lender or middleman to a title company. That allegedly has led to fierce hidden competition, wherein the title companies bargain for business by offering the lenders or real estate agencies some form of rebates for steering business to them.

In any event, State Insurance Commissioner Gleeson L. Payne has sighted in on the title companies with a view to eliminating rebates and assuring that charges for services are neither excessive nor discriminatory.

Payne's activity was sparked by legislation enacted last year which gave the insurance commissioner jurisdiction over rates charged by title companies. It is not altogether surprising that the legislation was sought and fully backed by the title companies. The criticisms of their operations had reached Washington and the possibility of federal control loomed.

PAYNE HAS MADE it clear that whatever may have been the practice in inducing lenders to steer business to title companies, it will no longer be tolerated. In establishing the ground rules he has issued a 10-page bulleting defining what will be considered improper huckstering in the future.

He said he found it strange that two companies had corralled two-thirds of the business. He thinks competition will surface at the consumer level if there is no personal benefit to the lender of seller in the selection of a title company.

As to price fixing or excessive charges, Gleeson has called upon the industry to report charges and the basis for them. The commissioner's actions may not guarantee lower title charges in the future, but they should afford the consumer better protection from potential gouging.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"We have courses in everything that a person can think of at some college. Now what I propose is a course in 'public testifying.' After all, most of our public men spend over half their time on the stand, especially the Republicans. Did you ever in your life see men as flustrated and tangled up as these fellows do on the stand? It looks like the smarter the man, the bigger sucker he is when he is being questioned.

"So I'm going to start a school of 'public testimony.' The minute a man is elected, why, we will have him come and spend a few weeks in the school and then, when he goes to his public office he will be all set for his first investigation." — March 25, 1928.

Here's How Henry Kissinger Found Time To Get Married

WASHINGTON — Last Saturday's marriage of Secy. of State Henry Kissinger to the former Nancy Maginnes came as a surprise to everyone. Not even the Pentagon was let in on the secret, and members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee are still mumbling that it was typical of Kissinger to do something like that on Saturday, when most congressmen were out of town.

Although the State Department has remained mum on what led up to the marriage, I have been able to put pieces of the story together.

KISSINGER CAME BACK from the Soviet Union on Thursday and immediately plunged into talks with Moshe Dayan in Washington. These talks were continued until lunch on Saturday.

At about noon Kissinger finished his conversation with Dayan, bade goodbye to him, and then turned to his aide and asked: "What do I have on my schedule now?"

The aide said, "I don't see anything on your schedule, Mr. Secretary. You're free the entire afternoon."

Mr. Kissinger was incredulous. "What do you mean, I have nothing on my schedule? I always have something on my schedule. I think I'll go see the president."

"He's in Key Biscayne meeting with his lawyers," the aide said. "He can't see you until Sunday."

"All right then," Kissinger said, "I'll take a trip somewhere. I think I'll go to India. I haven't been there in some time."

THE AIDE REPLIED nervously, "If you go to India this afternoon, you'll have to go to Pakistan as well, and you won't be able to get back in time for a reception at the Iranian Embassy on Monday."

"Well, is there any head of state visiting this country whom I can see?"

"King Hussein is in Palm Beach, but if you see him right after you saw Moshe Dayan, Sadat of Egypt might get angry."

Kissinger started pacing up and down the office.

"What about Africa? Couldn't I go to Africa this afternoon?"

"North or South Africa?"

"What difference does it make?" Kissinger asked. "Maybe I could work out a detente between the two of them."

"I wouldn't advise it, sir. If you go to Africa now, it will just stir up the Soviets and the Chinese."

"Chinese? There's an idea. Why don't I go see Chou En-lai? Get me Peking on the phone ... Hello, Chou ... This is Henry. I thought I'd come over for the afternoon, and we could have a bowl of rice together ... Oh, you've got tickets for the opera? ... No, no that's all right. We'll do it some other day ... Yeh, sure, I'll give you some notice the next time."

KISSINGER HUNG UP the phone in despair. "Are there any movie premieres I couldgo to?" he asked his aide.

"You missed 'The Great Gatsby' by three days," the aide said.

Just then Nancy Maginnes walked into the office.

"Hi, Henry, I was just driving by, and I stopped in to say hello. I won't keep you."

"No, no, sit down. I'm glad to see you. I don't have anything to do this afternoon."

"You must be kidding," Miss Maginnes said.

"I wish I was. My staff goofed up and left me without a trip, a negotiation or an appointment. I'm sick."

MISS MAGINNES nodded sympathetically.

"This is just a suggestion, Henry, but since you're free for the rest of the day, why don't we get married?"

Henry was shocked. "Married? It never occurred to me. I could probably get married this afternoon, couldn't I?"

"I'll check it out with protocol," the aide said, "but I'm sure they'd have no objection."

"Why not?" Kissinger asked Miss Maginnes. "It will be a fun way to kill the day before I go off to Damascus."

Fuel Crunch Slices Highway Users Taxes

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The continuing fuel crunch resulted in 12 per cent drop in state distribution of highway users taxes to California's counties and cities for March, according to figures released by the state controller's office.

A total of $54,918,644 derived from gasoline and diesel taxes and other revenues was distributed statewide on March 28. The total was $7,966,306 less than in March 1973.

(Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell last month predicted declining gasoline sales — and hence shrinking gasoline taxes — would reduce Marin County's share of the annual highway users tax distribution by at least 10 per cent or $200,000 by June 1.)

Last month's distribution also was $9 million below the tax share distributed in February, Flournoy reported.

The March distribution included $134,146 for Marin County, and $200,272.53 for Sonoma County.

By cities the March apportionments were: Belvedere, $2,-137; Corte Madera, $6,180; Cotati, $2,014; Fairfax, $5,522; Larkspur, $8,764; Mill Valley, $9,260; Novato, $24,104; Petaluma, $20,824; Rohnert Park, $8,-216; Ross, $2,233; San Anselmo, $9,193; San Rafael, $30,271; Sausalito, $4,525, and Tiburon, $4,551.

Library Budget Given Approval

A proposed $179,117 budget for 1974-75 has been approved by the Larkspur Library Board which forwarded the document to the city council for approval during upcoming budget hearings.

The board made no changes Tuesday in the spending plan which is nearly triple this year's $61,338 according to Librarian Richard A. Kilbourne who prepared it.

The new budget includes $100,000 for planning, purchase and development of a new library and increases funds to purchase books and magazines from $14,000 this year to $25,-000.

Music Festival Auditions Set

Vocal auditions for the Inverness Music Festival will be held between 4 and 10 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Carole B. Berg in Kentfield.

Interested singers may call Carole Berg of 20 Quisisana Drive or the Inverness Music Festival office for additional information and appointments. The festival will be in July this year.

Woodsy Owl To Go Commercial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Woodsy Owl is joining Smokey the Bear in private engagements.

The House Tuesday approved legislation authorizing the agriculture secretary to sell his services and his slogan "Give a Hoot, Don't Pollute," to private companies for commercial purposes.

The department currently sells Smokey the Bear under similar authorization.

The measure, already approved by the Senate, was approved on a vote of 385-to-15. It creates criminal misdemeanor penalties for the unauthorized commercial use of the cartoon character and authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to seek injunctions against illegal use.

Greyhound Is Accused Of Unneeded Insurance Sales

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Greyhound Bus Lines was accused yesterday of inducing California travelers to buy unneeded baggage insurance which by law it is obliged to offer free.

A suit asked that a trust fund be set up into which all such money collected by Greyhound be placed.

An attorney for the San Diego Legal Aid Society, who filed the Superior Court suit, said "only Greyhound knows how much" is involved but that "it is a vast sum."

In his suit Ken Roye said Greyhound for two years has led travelers to believe that its liability for baggage loss was limited to $50 and that additional insurance would have to be purchased for more valuable luggage. But this is true only for inter-state trips, which are under federal jurisdiction.

Trips within California are governed by a 1972 state law which sets the bus line's baggage liability at up to $250, Roye said.

The premiums charged by Greyhound have ranged from 25 cents for $50 worth of insurance to $1 for $250. Roye said the excess money should be refunded or rates could be rolled back.

Depend on us for high interest on Certificates of Deposit.

7¼% a year

4 to 10 year maturity

$1000 minimum

We offer a Certificate of Deposit that earns 7¼% annual interest—the highest allowed by law. That's a full ¼% higher than many other banks in California. Your minimum investment is just $1,000 and you select the maturity—anywhere from 4 to 10 years. Regardless of what happens with other interest rates, you've locked in this high yield and Bank of America will continue to pay you 7¼% annually for the entire term. Rain or shine.

Wouldn't you feel better investing with Bank of America? Safe and secure? More Californians save with us than any other bank.

Besides our 4 to 10 year Certificate, we offer many other plans with different interest rates for different periods of time. We'll help you choose the right plan to meet your individual needs. That's important, because Federal law prohibits withdrawals on Certificates of Deposit and Investors Passbook Accounts prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the regular savings rate.

For high yield and safety, depend on us. More Californians do.

BCDC Slates Forums On Master Plan

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A series of public forums has been set this month by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission on a report on possible amendments to its 1969 master plan for the bay.

The fourth and last of the forums will be held at 7:30 p.m. on April 30 in the supervisors chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

Copies of a staff report on possible amendments, entitled "Bay Issues: Options for the Future of San Francisco Bay," will be available by Friday from the commission, 30 Van Ness Avenue.

Specific issues raised by the report in Marin suggest a possible limit on the number of additional private docks in Corte Madera Creek, point out that present commission regulations bar property owners along the Larkspur Boardwalk from building on undeveloped lots, and stress the need for planning Sausalito's northern waterfront.

Other issues covered in the report include improved public access to the bay, shoreline improvement, supertankers in the bay,the future of salt ponds and managed marshlands such as Suisun Marsh.

Other forums to get public suggestions on the issues will be held April 16 at Mitchell Park Community Center, Palo Alto; April 24 at Vernon Auditorium, Oakland, and April 25 at the Vallejo City Council chambers. All begin at 7:30 p.m.

No Conflict For School Panelists

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The financial disclosure provisions of California's 1973 Conflict of Interests Act do not apply to school board members, Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger said yesterday.

The opinion prepared by Deputy Atty. Gen. Clayton P. Roche explained that the act requires financial statements to be filed with the Secretary of State by constitutional officers or state elected officials.

These include all "constitutional officers, county supervisors and chief administrative officers, mayors, city council members, members of planning commissions and planning officers, and managers and chief administrative officers of general law or charter cities."

He pointed out that school board members are not constitutional officers nor state elected officials as included in the act.

The opinion said that school board members fall within a discretionary provision of the law which states that public agencies may adopt rules governing financial disclosure of officials not specifically covered.

The California Supreme Court has agreed to consider a challenge to the constitutionality of the Conflict of Interests Act. The court action was brought by Nevada County which appealed a lower court ruling holding that the law was consittutional.
